VOL. 2.--NO. 281. CITY OF KINGSTON, (RONDOUT,) MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1873. WHOLE NO. 591.

A Curious Lawsuit.

A delicate point, involving a large inheritance, was decided, a few days ago, by the civil tribunal of Rennes. It arose out of the tragic occurrence which took place in October, 1871, on the rock of Penmarch, in Finisterre. This rock, of gigantic dimensions, overhangs the Atlantic, and, being one of the most picturesque features of the Brittany coast, is much visited by tourists and marine painters. It juts out at a great height over the sea, and the abyss beneath is known to the aboriginal fishers as Tall-au-Ifern, or the mouth of hell. An Evil Spirit, these primitive people believe, is constantly lying in wait at the foot of the rock to entrap unwary mortals, and cut them off from among the living in the midst of their sins. This idea, founded, like most local superstitions, on fact, is not always sufficiently present to the minds of excursionists to Penmarch. The victims of the Tall-au-Ifern demon in October, 1871, were Mme. Levainville, the wife of a Brittany prefect, her daughter Mdlle. Gabrielle Levainville, a beautiful young girl of eighteen, her nephew and niece, M. Georges and Mdlle. Eugenie Dresch, and Mdlle. Bonnemain, the fiancee of Georges. They had been staying on a visit at the romantic chateau of Kernuz, the seat of M. Manfras du Chatellier, and had driven over on the 8th of October with their host's son, M. Paul Manfras du Chatellier, a marine painter of some repute, to visit his studio overlooking Penmarch. After inspecting some paintings they went to compare them with the sites they represented. Mme. Levainville proposed that before returning to the chateau of Kernuz she and her young relations should pass half an hour on the platform watching the effects of an angry sunset. The sky was menacing, the horizon in a blaze, the atmosphere close and charged with electricity, and the sea smooth as glass. The tide was full in, and nothing indicated the presence of the legendary demon of Tall-au-Ifern. M. Paul du Chatellier, while his friends were admiring the superb effects of color, returned to his studio to fix them on canvas.

As the positions taken up by the two groups into which the excursionists split was the chief element in the case the Rennes tribunal had to decide, it is well to state that Mme. Levainville and M. and Mdlle. Dresch were sitting together on the most northern point of the rock, under a sort of natural parapet. Mdlle. Gabrielle Levainville and Mdlle. Bonnemain were standing at a distance of about two yards behind them. Suddenly a vast wave arose, gathering in height as it advanced, and before the five persons on the platform had time to perceive the danger, washed them into the yawning Tall-au-Ifern. The foremost group was taken first, dashed against the parapet, and precipitated violently into the sea. The half-spent wave then gently lifted the two young girls, and sent them to rejoin their relatives.

Now Mme. Levainville was the owner of large estates, and Mdlle. Gabrielle her only child. The question the tribunal of Rennes had to decide was who should inherit this fortune, which was claimed by Mme. Dresch, the sister of Mme. Levainville, as the heiress of this lady, and by M. Levainville as the heir of Gabrielle. If it could be proved that the wife died last, the property would go to the sister; and if not, to the husband, as the daughter's heir. M. Paul du Chatellier, who was sketching the rock at the moment of the accident, was the principal witness. He stated that the foremost group, comprising Mme. Levainville and Georges and Eugenie Dresch, must have been killed at once by the violent collision into which they were brought with the lateral parapet. When they were flung into the sea he lost sight of two of the bodies. That of Georges, which remained floating some moments, seemed to him an inert, mangled mass. When the wave carried the two girls into the Tall-au-Ifern, they must have been in the full possession of their faculties, and physically unhurt. There was, in M. du Chatellier's opinion, more than a fair presumption that Gabrielle survived her mother for perhaps a minute, at all events, as long a time as it takes to die from submersion. Mme. Dresch herself admitted that she saw her sister dashed headforemost against a rock and flung into the sea ere the wave had reached the niece.

The state of four out of five of the bodies that were found confirmed M. du Chatelier's evidence. Those of Mme. Levainville and M. Dresch were all mangled, while that of Mdlle. Levainville did not present a single contusion. It had the sleeping appearance which M. James Bertrand gave to the drowned Virginia in a beautiful picture he exhibited four or five summers back. The court held that Gabrielle must have survived her mother for at least a few seconds, and accordingly decided that the fortune she inherited from her goes to her father, and not to Mme. Levainville's sister.—Paris Letter to the London Daily News.

"I use the 'New American Cyclopaedia' every day, generally many times a day. I think it the best work of the kind in existence. It is singularly well suited to families. The children who grow up in a house where there is a copy of it within reach, can hardly escape becoming well-informed persons. VOL. 2.--NO. 281. CITY OF KINGSTON, (RONDOUT,) MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1873. WHOLE NO. 591.

A Curious Lawsuit.

A delicate point, involving a large inheritance, was decided, a few days ago, by the civil tribunal of Rennes. It arose out of the tragic occurrence which took place in October, 1871, on the rock of Penmarch, in Finisterre. This rock, of gigantic dimensions, overhangs the Atlantic, and, being one of the most picturesque features of the Brittany coast, is much visited by tourists and marine painters. It juts out at a great height over the sea, and the abyss beneath is known to the aboriginal fishers as Tall-au-Ifern, or the mouth of hell. An Evil Spirit, these primitive people believe, is constantly lying in wait at the foot of the rock to entrap unwary mortals, and cut them off from among the living in the midst of their sins. This idea, founded, like most local superstitions, on fact, is not always sufficiently present to the minds of excursionists to Penmarch. The victims of the Tall-au-Ifern demon in October, 1871, were Mme. Levainville, the wife of a Brittany prefect, her daughter Mdlle. Gabrielle Levainville, a beautiful young girl of eighteen, her nephew and niece, M. Georges and Mdlle. Eugenie Dresch, and Mdlle. Bonnemain, the fiancee of Georges. They had been staying on a visit at the romantic chateau of Kernuz, the seat of M. Manfras du Chatellier, and had driven over on the 8th of October with their host's son, M. Paul Manfras du Chatellier, a marine painter of some repute, to visit his studio overlooking Penmarch. After inspecting some paintings they went to compare them with the sites they represented. Mme. Levainville proposed that before returning to the chateau of Kernuz she and her young relations should pass half an hour on the platform watching the effects of an angry sunset. The sky was menacing, the horizon in a blaze, the atmosphere close and charged with electricity, and the sea smooth as glass. The tide was full in, and nothing indicated the presence of the legendary demon of Tall-au-Ifern. M. Paul du Chatellier, while his friends were admiring the superb effects of color, returned to his studio to fix them on canvas.

As the positions taken up by the two groups into which the excursionists split was the chief element in the case the Rennes tribunal had to decide, it is well to state that Mme. Levainville and M. and Mdlle. Dresch were sitting together on the most northern point of the rock, under a sort of natural parapet. Mdlle. Gabrielle Levainville and Mdlle. Bonnemain were standing at a distance of about two yards behind them. Suddenly a vast wave arose, gathering in height as it advanced, and before the five persons on the platform had time to perceive the danger, washed them into the yawning Tall-au-Ifern. The foremost group was taken first, dashed against the parapet, and precipitated violently into the sea. The half-spent wave then gently lifted the two young girls, and bent them to rejoin their relatives.

Now Mme. Levainville was the owner of large estates, and Mdlle. Gabrielle her only child. The question the tribunal of Rennes had to decide was who should inherit this fortune, which was claimed by Mme. Dresch, the sister of Mme. Levainville, as the heiress of this lady, and by M. Levainville as the heir of Gabrielle. If it could be proved that the wife died last, the property would go to the sister; and if not, to the husband, as the daughter's heir. M. Paul du Chattelier, who was sketching the rock at the moment of the accident, was the principal witness. He stated that the foremost group, comprising Mme. Levainville and Georges and Eugenie Dresch, must have been killed at once by the violent collision into which they were brought with the lateral parapet. When they were flung into the sea he lost sight of two of the bodies. That of Georges, which remained floating some moments, seemed to him an inert, mangled mass. When the wave carried the two girls into the Tall-au-Ifern, they must have been in the full possession of their faculties, and physically unhurt. There was, in M. du Chattelier's opinion, more than a fair presumption that Gabrielle survived her mother for perhaps a minute, at all events, as long a time as it takes to die from submersion. Mme. Dresch herself admitted that she saw her sister dashed headforemost against a rock and flung into the sea ere the wave had reached the niece.

The state of four out of five of the bodies that were found confirmed M. du Chatelier's evidence. Those of Mme. Levainville and M. Dresch were all mangled, while that of Mdlle. Levainville did not present a single contusion. It had the sleeping appearance which M. James Bertrand gave to the drowned Virginia in a beautiful picture he exhibited four or five summers back. The court held that Gabrielle must have survived her mother for at least a few seconds, and accordingly decided that the fortune she inherited from her goes to her father, and not to Mme. Levainville's sister.—Paris Letter to the London Daily News.

Kingston, Monday Morning, Sept. 15.

We really can't see the occasion of the loud censure of Postmaster Filley on the part of the administration press. When Mr. Filley says he can't feed federal officials on $4,000 a year he simply tells the truth, and for his action in making both ends meet he only followed precedent. Federal office-holders in other places have feasted the high dignitaries, but have always exhibited great reluctance to take the expense out of their own pockets.

Joe Hawley has heretofore been about as prominent a figure as the respectable part of the Republican party had to present, but Gov. Bullock's speech at the convention that bottled Butler sent him to the front. Has anybody noticed that the Republicans that most squarely condemn the practices that it was considered treachery to mention last fall, are listened to with the most eager attention now! When the Bullocks come to the front the Butlers and the Carpenters have to go to the rear.

A Poughkeepsie telegram informs us that a national convention of railroad conductors is to be called. What a good idea! There is a possibility of improvement in the average conductor really immense. It is hinted that the main purpose of the convention is to consider the subject of life insurance; but a few hours could be profitably spent in the pursuit of politeness. It is said some of the western companies instruct their conductors to be careful to let passengers understand their patronage is considered a favor, and the western conductor is really human. But eastern conductors have never heard of such ideas. A full attendance upon this convention, with a free discussion of the subject, and the sending of a liberal number of missionaries upon the railroads tolerably provided with cowhide boots, especially upon the Central and Hudson River Railroad, might do a world of good. If the convention could be pledged to effect something substantial in this line, we have no doubt the public would consent to forego car traveling for a week to let all the conductors attend.

The collapse of the Graphic balloon is followed by the promise from Messrs. Goodsell that the purpose will not be abandoned but another balloon will at once be constructed, of silk, if necessary, and the voyage undertaken at the earliest possible moment, which, by the way, cannot be this Fall. This promise, in view of the very inadequate steps taken to keep the other, will be received with considerable if not unanimous incredulity, as if they really meant business in this effort they have wasted much invaluable time in bringing before the public a balloon which any respectable aeronaut condemned at sight. As the public money has been taken as well as its credulity imposed upon it should insist that the promise be fulfilled at least so far as an honest effort by a voyage in a properly constructed balloon to demonstrate the truth or falsity of the theory that there is a steady eastward current in the upper atmosphere. It does not need that the voyage should be accompanied by the perils of the ocean, at least not while the current theory is as yet disputed. This theory is fundamental to the journey, and should be proved before one is undertaken. Let Professor Wise be equipped as his aeronautic skill prescribes, and then let him take a journey or half a dozen of them across the continent, setting out at San Francisco bound for the Atlantic coast. If there be a reliable eastward current it will carry the cautious Professor, the reckless Donaldson, and the reportorial Ford, and if accident befall the party they can be recovered without invading a shark's boudoir or a whale's kitchen.

A Fine Point.

George D. Phelps died the other day in Symsbury, Conn. He left an estate of one million dollars, mostly personal property. The will was carelessly drawn and difficulties arose among the heirs as to its meaning. The case finally came before the Supreme Court of Errors, where it was argued. The most novel point raised there was this: can unattested papers, made subsequently to the will and to all its attested codicils, be admitted as explanatory of the provisions of the will itself? On this point there are but few precedents in this country. English courts have held that the papers referred to must be in actual existence at the time when reference to them is made. In this instance no such claim is set up. On the other hand the lawyers insist that the codocils constituted a virtual republication of the will, and that the unattested papers come within the date of the last codicil. It is a nice point and furnishes one more illustration of the way in which common facts will slip through the meshes of the most complete statute-law. The separate state legislatures should make a note of this and pass acts to meet such a contingency in future.

Belleville's Babies.

The Graphic balloon has gone to grass, but the babies of Belleville (Ill.) have not. They have been on exhibition in connection with the Agricultural Fair of that State, and a tremendous excitement was created. The babies were nearly all sacrificed in the washing and dressing business. Their dear little snub noses were almost scrubbed off, and they were loaded down with charms and other jewelry. Thirty-four babies were placed on show and only two or three gained prizes.

Our neighbor, the St. Louis Democrat, gives us a fine report of the affair, but we sorrow rather than rejoice over what it describes. A mother's baby is to her the dearest and most beautiful thing in the world, and she can never see why it should not be preferred above all others. When it is not, as in the nature of the case the majority on exhibition could not be, she goes away with a pain in her good heart of which years will not obliterate the memory. But let loving mothers be comforted, Life's principal prizes are offered and striven for after childhood has vanished away, and the award of no committee can prejudge the success of any in that larger contest. We are old and tough, ourself, though our mother has often remarked the beauty which once lit up our infant face. Fortunately for others we were never entered for a prize, and now—it is too late.

Tommaso Salvini.

This great Italian tragedian has arrived in this country and is about to begin his engagement of one hundred nights, under Manager Grau. His fame is comparatively new to the American public, although he has won unquestionable dramatic triumphs in Rome, Naples, Florence and Paris. Salvini's greatest role is said to be Othello, but he is reported also to be wonderful in his interpretation of other Shakespearean parts. His language is, of course, Italian. Not one word he utters will be understood by the mass of his audiences in the United States. His ability to hold and edify them will depend solely upon his acting. In this however Salvini's genius is supreme.—Charlotte Cushman, who is certainly a competent judge, assures us that even with the disadvantage of an unknown tongue "he will thrill the souls" of his audiences. The Italian actor perhaps more nearly resembles Forrest than any other of our past or present American favorites. He has Forrest's muscularity, imposing personale, and deep, rich voice, and surpasses him in grace of motion, variety and elaborateness of finish in his art.—We call attention in this connection to one fact worthy of notice by an English-speaking people—i. e., while the greatest imaginative poet the world has ever seen was an Englishman, his works have gone begging in other lands than his own or ours for the largest and truest rendition on the stage. The Anglo-Saxon race is not naturally poetical and imaginative and, therefore, not dramatic. The chief exception among English actors to the general charge of coldness and subserviency to routine was Junius Brutus Booth. Most others attained what heights they did by the sunlight and warmth of Shakespeare's genius falling upon an unkind and reluctant soil. It was reserved for Rachel, Ristori, Salvini, children of the sun of Italy, to translate our own Poet for us in a language he never knew. If this fact does not illustrate the breadth of the light shining from Stratford-on-Avon, and the unity of human nature in Shakespeare's representative characters, then we build no hopes on missions and renounce all faith in the millenium.

The Mayor cast the deciding vote in the negative.

Alderman Flynn's motion was then carried.

The Committee on Lamps, Lamp Posts and Lighting made the following report:

TO THE MAYOR AND COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON:

The Committee on Street Lamps, Lamp Posts and Lighting beg leave to submit the following report, in pursuance of instructions from the Common Council.

The following is the number of lamps at present upon the streets of the city:

|---|---|
| Gas Lamps | 126 |
| Gasoline " | 26 |
| Kerosene oil lamps | 93 |
| Total number | 245 |

The cost of lighting of which is as follows:

Gas lamps—cost of lighting and gas from June 30th, 1872, to July 1st, 1873, $3,350.23.

Cost of gasoline and kerosene lamps for same time, including new lamps, posts and gasoline furnished by the city, $1,701.36.

Total cost of street lamps for year ending July 1st, 1873, $5,081.59.

It will thus be seen that the cost of kerosene or gasoline lamps is not more than one-half as much as that of gas.

The relative cost of gasoline lights and kerosene oil lights seems to be in favor of gasoline, and as the latter affords a much better light your committee would recommend that gasoline lamps be substituted for the kerosene lamps now in use.

Your committee have ascertained that by the addition of a tube fixture the kerosene lamps can be made available for gasoline, the cost of which would be $2.68 for each lamp.

Your committee would also report that the city is at present paying 26 cts. per gallon for gasoline and they have also ascertained that the price of the same at Albany ranges from 18 to 20 cts. per gallon, but when it is taken into consideration that Burger & Wells, who now furnish the gasoline at 26 cts. per gallon, have to pay the freight on it from Albany and have to deliver it wherever needed in the city, the advance they charge on it does not much more than pay reasonable expenses. It seems therefore the city would receive no advantage from purchases made in Albany.

Your committee have not yet advertised for proposals to have all the gasoline and kerosene lamps lit and materials for the same furnished by contract, but have thought it advisable to recommend to the Common Council the substitution of gasoline lamps for the kerosene oil lamps now in use, which if adopted would materially lessen the expense, as well as the labor of keeping the lamps in repair.

Dated Sept. 12, 1873.

JACOB PLOUGH,
P. J. FLYNN.

On motion the report was received and ordered published in the proceedings of the Common Council.

On motion the Committee on Lamps, Lamp Posts and Lighting were authorized to make the change in herosene lamps recommended in their report.

On motion the Committee on Lamps, Lamp Posts and Lighting were authorized to negotiate for the lighting of the gas street lamps for the ensuing year and report to the Common Council.

Alderman Canfield, from the special committee on plans and specifications for the City Hall, reported that the committee had agreed to pay the architect, Mr. A. Crook, $1,500 upon the completion of the plans and specifications and moved that a warrant be issued to him for that amount.

Alderman Sahler moved to amend by making the amount $500.

Alderman Sahler's amendment was lost, as follows:

AYES—Aldermen Flynn, Sahler, Tubby—3.
NOES—Aldermen Canfield, Cummings, Fredenburgh, Madden, Plough, Tremper, Westbrook—7.

On motion the Mayor was heard on the subject, Alderman Madden taking the chair.

A motion to adjourn for one week was lost, as follows:

AYES—Aldermen Flynn, Sahler, Tremper, Tubby, Westbrook—5.
NOES—Aldermen Canfield, Cummings, Fredenburgh, Madden, Plough—5.

The Mayor cast the deciding vote in the negative.

A motion to adjourn for two weeks was lost, as follows:

AYES—Aldermen Sahler, Tremper, Tubby, Westbrook—4.
NOES—Aldermen Canfield, Cummings, Flynn, Fredenburgh, Madden, Plough—6.

Pending further consideration of the motion under discussion the departure of several Aldermen reduced the number below a quorum and the Common Council was dismissed.

Ghastly Relics of the Disaster.

HALIFAX, Sept. 14.—Among the most melancholy disasters by the late gale is the loss of the schooner Tyro of Brooklyn, N. Y., which went down off Old Harry Head, Magdalen Islands, with all hands. The Tyro's crew consisted of Spencer Smith and his three sons, Nathaniel, Josiah and Spencer, Hiram Godfrey, William Dexter, Henry Horne, John A. ### THE YELLOW FEVER.

The Epidemic at Shreveport.

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 14.—B. T. M. Jackson, telegraph operator, died of yellow fever yesterday. Roe, the telegraph manager, is not expected to recover.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14.—A Picayune special from Shreveport says the disease which is raging there is the genuine yellow fever of a very malignant type. No abatement is apparent. The sudden change in the weather proved fatal to the sick. The Howard Association is well organized and doing noble service, but the city being almost depopulated it is impossible to obtain nurses to attend the sick. Three physicians from New Orleans are there—Drs. Henry Smith, John J. Reilly and J. F. Finney.

The Times of this morning says yesterday's fatality far exceeded that of any day since the commencement of the epidemic. The rain and cold wind from the north, which is fatal to most cases, has had the effect to purify the atmosphere and in the opinion of our physicians will be conducive to the health of those who are now well and will assist many to recover who stood the sudden change. It is estimated that five hundred persons are down with the fever. The deaths so far amount to 146.

A dispatch to-day from Shreveport to the Howard Association reports the arrival of nurses and physicians there. Another dispatch signed by Drs. Smith, Finney and Reilly says no report you may have received from here can possibly exaggerate the condition of affairs. It is indeed deplorable. The Howard Association, in response to further appeals, will send a number of druggists and more nurses to-morrow. Twenty-four deaths, all whites, are reported for the twenty-four hours ending at six P. M. to-day. There were twenty-two deaths yesterday, all whites.

LATEST.

Press reports from Shreveport show fully 600 down with the fever.

APPEARANCE OF THE PLAGUE AT MEMPHIS.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 13.—At a meeting of the Board of Health Saturday a circular was issued announcing the existence of yellow fever in the northwestern part of the city among the blacks. Thirty deaths have occurred; only one death south of Poplar street. There was little excitement here before but it is expected large numbers of people will leave the city next week.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 14.—Considerable excitement to-day in consequence of the prevalence of yellow fever. A great many persons have left the city. Several new cases are reported in the southern part of the city this afternoon. The total number of interments to-day was fourteen, eleven of the deaths being caused by yellow fever. To-night and last night were unusually cool. It is hoped the frost will soon stop the disease.

ANTI-MONOPOLY DEMONSTRATION.

Grand Reception of Gov. Booth.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Gov. Booth was enthusiastically received last night on his return from Sacramento, with a procession, banners and illumination. He addressed six thousand persons from the balcony of the Grand Hotel, congratulating the people on a complete victory over the railroad monopoly. He referred to Stanford's statement Thursday at Sacramento, that the bonds of the company cannot be sold in the East or in Europe since the result of the election was made known. He said the bonds are worth as much now as ever, but if the credit of the company depended on pledging the manhood and independence of the people of California, the sooner its credit was destroyed the better.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

Suspension of Daniel Drew's Wall Street Firm.

NEW YORK, Sept 13, 11:30.—Considerable surprise was occasioned in the stock board this morning by the announcement of the suspension of Kenyon Cox & Co., one of the oldest and most respectable firms on the street. They give as an explanation their large endorsement of railroad paper, which they are unable to meet. They were promoters and heavily interested in the Canada Southern Railroad.

It was believed at first that the failure was due to heavy dealings in Wabash on Daniel Drew's account, and that the stock accordingly dropped four per cent. just before the announcement was formally made. It is since ascertained, however, that the Wabash pool was not in their office.

The firm consists of Kenyon Cox, a brother of Gov. Cox, of Ohio, Horace Manuel, W. H. Hutchinson and Daniel Drew. For years past the house has been known on the street as Daniel Drew's house. The amount of its liabilities is not yet stated. It is believed that there are sufficient assets to fully meet them. The whole market declined from one to four per cent. before the announcement, the failure being known to a few. The market has since, however, steadily improved.

A FUTILE EFFORT TO CREATE A PANIC.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—1:30 P. M.—The excitement over the suspension of Kenyon Cox & Co. has abated. Mr. Cox went to the Stock Exchange and paid all contracts. The suspension is temporary. Daniel Drew has been telegraphed for to Europe. There is no foundation for the statements being telegraphed over the country in the interest of bear operators that the suspension was caused by heavy Wabash speculations. The efforts to create a panic has apparently failed.

EFFECT OF THE NEW COINAGE ACT.

A Washington dispatch says the representation is made to the Treasury Department that the coinage act of 1873, by which the value of a pound sterling was altered from 484 to 486 65-100, will increase the protective duties upon imports from Great Britain to the United States little more than one-half of one per cent.

WHO BURNED COLUMBIA?

Some New Evidence in the Case.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The Chronicle will to-morrow publish the following letter from General Sherman in relation to the burning of Columbia:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES, WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.

To the Editor of the Chronicle:—

DEAR SIR:—When you applied to me some time ago for material bearing on the controversy of who burnt Columbia I gave you two printed pamphlets, which I had obtained from Judge Holt, containing all the testimony taken in the cotton cases growing out of that event and submitted to a mixed commission under treaty with Great Britain. Judge Holt could have obtained the testimony of all the eight or ten thousand officers and soldiers who were at or near Columbia when the conflagration occurred, but thought he had enough without putting the government to the expense of bringing more witnesses from a distance. I suppose he did not summon Colonel Stone, who commanded the leading brigade of the Fifteenth Corps, because he did not know where to find him. I surely did not know his whereabouts until he voluntarily published his statement. In my official report of the affair published before the close of the war, when Gen. Wade Hampton was fighting us and not when, as he alleges, he was a prisoner of war, I referred incidentally to a fact of which I had knowledge that a small detachment of the Fourteenth Corps had passed over the Congaree; had entered Columbia and hoisted a flag on the new State House in advance of the regular entry of the Fifteenth Corps, which had made a circuit to cross the two branches, Salinda and Broad, which make the Congaree. I treated the performance of this detachment as somewhat irregular, but the men who composed it now become important witnesses, and I herewith enclose copies of their written statements, together with the official reports, which explain the whole affair.

These witnesses go back to the time three quarters of an hour before the entry of the head of Stone's brigade and about two hours ahead of the time I personally reached the piles of burning cotton, of which there were many, and I invite your careful perusal of their statements, for they are positive that they saw the rebel cavalry soldiers ripping open bales of cotton and applying fire. They also saw rebel soldiers plundering stores on Main street, which General Hampton attributes to our men, and they further positively assert that Hampton had already gone out of Columbia, so that he could not and did not see his men applying the fire. Now Hampton admits the cotton was rolled out in the streets for the purpose of burning, but that he forbade the burning lest the fire should extend to the houses, and I reiterate no matter what his orders were the men of his army, either his rear guard or his stragglers, did apply the fire and that this was a sufficient cause for all else that followed.

W. T. SHERMAN, General.

THE MURDER RECORD.

Stabbing Affray in Jersey City.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—During an altercation in Jersey City to-day, Thomas Granville stabbed Randolph W. Thomas fatally. Granville was arrested.

BRUTAL MURDER IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Four men entered a saloon corner of Madison and Clark streets last night and taking seats at one of the tables called for beer, which was served them by one of the waiters, a young man whose name cannot be ascertained at this time. After drinking the four men started to leave the saloon, when the waiter requested the men to pay for the beer. One of the men replied he had paid for it and another waiter rejoined he had not. Some angry words followed and the waiter turned away and went behind the lunch counter near the bar, when the ruffian with whom he disputed drew a revolver and deliberately fired three shots at him, the third striking him full in the forehead and passed entirely through the head. The assassin fled, pursued by the bar-keeper, who was, however, unable to overtake him, and the assassin is still at large.

THE WEATHER.

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS! Please read the good news. We have to inform our readers, especially those afflicted with any chronic or disease of long standing, that the celebrated old German doctor, formerly of Boston, where he was for a number of years the principal physician and surgeon of a leading hospital and infirmary, more latterly of Middletown, N. Y., through the urgent request of some of our citizens, has consented to establish a branch office in Kingston, for the purpose of treating such diseases as he makes a specialty of, such as the treatment of the eye and ear, blindness and deafness, no matter from what course, Catarrh in the head, diseases of the throat, dyspepsia and dyspeptic consumption, rheumatism, neuralgia, diseases of the liver and lungs, if the latter is not too far consumed, skin diseases, tumors, ulcers, saltrheum, scrofula and all skin diseases the human system is heir to. All delicate surgical operations performed by hands with improved instruments. The old Doctor positively cures cancer without the use of the knife or cause any pain to the patient. The Doctor comes here very highly recommended in character as well as skill. He has no superior in the successful treatment of the above named diseases. His testimonials of wonderful and remarkable cures preformed by him in Orange, Sullivan, Ulster and other counties in this State are all of undoubted veracity. Many of his testimonials are from highly respected citizens of the above named counties. We therefore ask you to please get a circular. The Doctor will receive and consult his patients at present at Brown's Hotel, Crown street, until further notice. Rooms open from 9 o'clock A. M., to 8 o'clock P. M., from Monday morning, September 15th, until Friday evening, Sept. 21st. And from 5 to 6 days in every month thereafter for one year at least. Consultation free of charge. # The Daily Freeman.

Kingston, Monday Morning, Sept. 15.

We really can't see the occasion of the loud censure of Postmaster Filley on the part of the administration press. When Mr. Filley says he can't feed federal officials on $4,000 a year he simply tells the truth, and for his action in making both ends meet he only followed precedent. Federal office-holders in other places have feasted the high dignitaries, but have always exhibited great reluctance to take the expense out of their own pockets.

Joe Hawley has heretofore been about as prominent a figure as the respectable part of the Republican party had to present, but Gov. Bullock's speech at the convention that bottled Butler sent him to the front. Has anybody noticed that the Republicans that most squarely condemn the practices that it was considered treachery to mention last fall, are listened to with the most eager attention now! When the Bullocks come to the front the Butlers and the Carpenters have to go to the rear.

A Poughkeepsie telegram informs us that a national convention of railroad conductors is to be called. What a good idea! There is a possibility of improvement in the average conductor really immense. It is hinted that the main purpose of the convention is to consider the subject of life insurance; but a few hours could be profitably spent in the pursuit of politeness. It is said some of the western companies instruct their conductors to be careful to let passengers understand their patronage is considered a favor, and the western conductor is really human. But eastern conductors have never heard of such ideas. A full attendance upon this convention, with a free discussion of the subject, and the sending of a liberal number of missionaries upon the railroads tolerably provided with cowhide boots, especially upon the Central and Hudson River Railroad, might do a world of good. If the convention could be pledged to effect something substantial in this line, we have no doubt the public would consent to forego car traveling for a week to let all the conductors attend.

The collapse of the Graphic balloon is followed by the promise from Messrs. Goodsell that the purpose will not be abandoned but another balloon will at once be constructed, of silk, if necessary, and the voyage undertaken at the earliest possible moment, which, by the way, cannot be this Fall. This promise, in view of the very inadequate steps taken to keep the other, will be received with considerable if not unanimous incredulity, as if they really meant business in this effort they have wasted much invaluable time in bringing before the public a balloon which any respectable aeronaut condemned at sight. As the public money has been taken as well as its credulity imposed upon it should insist that the promise be fulfilled at least so far as an honest effort by a voyage in a properly constructed balloon to demonstrate the truth or falsity of the theory that there is a steady eastward current in the upper atmosphere. It does not need that the voyage should be accompanied by the perils of the ocean, at least not while the current theory is as yet disputed. This theory is fundamental to the journey, and should be proved before one is undertaken. Let Professor Wise be equipped as his aeronautic skill prescribes, and then let him take a journey or half a dozen of them across the continent, setting out at San Francisco bound for the Atlantic coast. If there be a reliable eastward current it will carry the cautious Professor, the reckless Donaldson, and the reportorial Ford, and if accident befall the party they can be recovered without invading a shark's boudoir or a whale's kitchen.

A Fine Point.

George D. Phelps died the other day in Symsbury, Conn. He left an estate of one million dollars, mostly personal property. The will was carelessly drawn and difficulties arose among the heirs as to its meaning. The case finally came before the Supreme Court of Errors, where it was argued. The most novel point raised there was this: can unattested papers, made subsequently to the will and to all its attested codicils, be admitted as explanatory of the provisions of the will itself? On this point there are but few precedents in this country. English courts have held that the papers referred to must be in actual existence at the time when reference to them is made. In this instance no such claim is set up. On the other hand the lawyers insist that the codocils constituted a virtual republication of the will, and that the unattested papers come within the date of the last codicil. It is a nice point and furnishes one more illustration of the way in which common facts will slip through the meshes of the most complete statute-law. The separate state legislatures should make a note of this and pass acts to meet such a contingency in future.

Belleville's Babies.

The Graphic balloon has gone to grass, but the babies of Belleville (Ill.) have not. They have been on exhibition in connection with the Agricultural Fair of that State, and a tremendous excitement was created. The babies were nearly all sacrificed in the washing and dressing business. Their dear little snub noses were almost scrubbed off, and they were loaded down with charms and other jewelry. Thirty-four babies were placed on show and only two or three gained prizes.

Our neighbor, the St. Louis Democrat, gives us a fine report of the affair, but we sorrow rather than rejoice over what it describes. A mother's baby is to her the dearest and most beautiful thing in the world, and she can never see why it should not be preferred above all others. When it is not, as in the nature of the case the majority on exhibition could not be, she goes away with a pain in her good heart of which years will not obliterate the memory. But let loving mothers be comforted, Life's principal prizes are offered and striven for after childhood has vanished away, and the award of no committee can prejudge the success of any in that larger contest. We are old and tough, ourself, though our mother has often remarked the beauty which once lit up our infant face. Fortunately for others we were never entered for a prize, and now—it is too late.

We append a summary in trotting style:

Tommaso Salvini.

This great Italian tragedian has arrived in this country and is about to begin his engagement of one hundred nights, under Manager Grau. His fame is comparatively new to the American public, although he has won unquestionable dramatic triumphs in Rome, Naples, Florence and Paris. Salvini's greatest role is said to be Othello, but he is reported also to be wonderful in his interpretation of other Shakespearean parts. His language is, of course, Italian. Not one word he utters will be understood by the mass of his audiences in the United States. His ability to hold and edify them will depend solely upon his acting. In this however Salvini's genius is supreme.—Charlotte Cushman, who is certainly a competent judge, assures us that even with the disadvantage of an unknown tongue "he will thrill the souls" of his audiences. The Italian actor perhaps more nearly resembles Forrest than any other of our past or present American favorites. He has Forrest's muscularity, imposing personale, and deep, rich voice, and surpasses him in grace of motion, variety and elaborateness of finish in his art.—We call attention in this connection to one fact worthy of notice by an English-speaking people—i. e., while the greatest imaginative poet the world has ever seen was an Englishman, his works have gone begging in other lands than his own or ours for the largest and truest rendition on the stage. The Anglo-Saxon race is not naturally poetical and imaginative and, therefore, not dramatic. The chief exception among English actors to the general charge of coldness and subserviency to routine was Junius Brutus Booth. Most others attained what heights they did by the sunlight and warmth of Shakespeare's genius falling upon an unkind and reluctant soil. It was reserved for Rachel, Ristori, Salvini, children of the sun of Italy, to translate our own Poet for us in a language he never knew. If this fact does not illustrate the breadth of the light shining from Stratford-on-Avon, and the unity of human nature in Shakespeare's representative characters, then we build no hopes on missions and renounce all faith in the millenium.

CURRENT TOPICS.

—No one need ever assert after this that public opinion has no force. Even Senator Harlan refuses his back-pay.

—As the west is this year greatly given to expositions it is cheering to hear that the first one—that of Cincinnati—is successful. The attendance has been 12,000 daily, and the show very fine.

—It is a cheerful fact that Mme. Nilsson has such vivid sense of her pleasure in America and grateful recollections of the friends she found here, that her thought while near drowning on Lake Geneva was, "What will my American friends say?"

—There's certainly comfort for the starving in the statement that Minnesota after feeding her own population has thirty millions of wheat to spare.

The cost of lighting of which is as follows:

Gas lamps—cost of lighting and gas from June 30th, 1872, to July 1st, 1873, $3,360.23.

Cost of gasoline and kerosene lamps for same time, including new lamps, posts and gasoline furnished by the city, $1,701.36.

Total cost of street lamps for year ending July 1st, 1873, $5,081.59.

It will thus be seen that the cost of kerosene or gasoline lamps is not more than one-half as much as that of gas.

The relative cost of gasoline lights and kerosene oil lights seems to be in favor of gasoline, and as the latter affords a much better light your committee would recommend that gasoline lamps be substituted for the kerosene lamps now in use.

Your committee have ascertained that by the addition of a tube fixture the kerosene lamps can be made available for gasoline, the cost of which would be $2.68 for each lamp.

Your committee would also report that the city is at present paying 26 cts. per gallon for gasoline and they have also ascertained that the price of the same at Albany ranges from 18 to 20 cts. per gallon, but when it is taken into consideration that Burger & Wells, who now furnish the gasoline at 26 cts. per gallon, have to pay the freight on it from Albany and have to deliver it wherever needed in the city, the advance they charge on it does not much more than pay reasonable expenses. It seems therefore the city would receive no advantage from purchases made in Albany.

Your committee have not yet advertised for proposals to have all the gasoline and kerosene lamps lit and materials for the same furnished by contract, but have thought it advisable to recommend to the Common Council the substitution of gasoline lamps for the kerosene oil lamps now in use, which if adopted would materially lessen the expense, as well as the labor of keeping the lamps in repair.

Dated Sept. 12, 1873.

JACOB PLOUGH,
P. J. FLYNN.

On motion the report was received and ordered published in the proceedings of the Common Council.

On motion the Committee on Lamps, Lamp Posts and Lighting were authorized to make the change in kerosene lamps recommended in their report.

On motion the Committee on Lamps, Lamp Posts and Lighting were authorized to negotiate for the lighting of the gas street lamps for the ensuing year and report to the Common Council.

Alderman Canfield, from the special committee on plans and specifications for the City Hall, reported that the committee had agreed to pay the architect, Mr. A. Crook, $1,500 upon the completion of the plans and specifications and moved that a warrant be issued to him for that amount.

Alderman Sahler moved to amend by making the amount $500.

Alderman Sahler's amendment was lost, as follows:

AYES—Aldermen Flynn, Sahler, Tubby—3.

NOES—Aldermen Canfield, Cummings, Fredenburgh, Madden, Plough, Tremper, Westbrook—7.

On motion the Mayor was heard on the subject, Alderman Madden taking the chair.

A motion to adjourn for one week was lost, as follows:

AYES—Aldermen Flynn, Sahler, Tremper, Tubby, Westbrook—5.

NOES—Aldermen Canfield, Cummings, Fredenburgh, Madden, Plough—5.

The Mayor cast the deciding vote in the negative.

A motion to adjourn for two weeks was lost, as follows:

AYES—Aldermen Sahler, Tremper, Tubby, Westbrook—4.

NOES—Aldermen Canfield, Cummings, Flynn, Fredenburgh, Madden, Plough—6.

Pending further consideration of the motion under discussion the departure of several Aldermen reduced the number below a quorum and the Common Council was dismissed.

Ghastly Relics of the Disaster.

HALIFAX, Sept. 14.—Among the most melancholy disasters by the late gale is the loss of the schooner Tyro of Brooklyn, N. Y., which went down off Old Harry Head, Magdalen Islands, with all hands. The Tyro's crew consisted of Spencer Smith and his three sons, Nathaniel, Josiah and Spencer, Hiram Godfrey, William Dexter, Henry Horne, John A. The bodies of the captain, his son, two seamen and a passenger supposed to be James McMullen, have been recovered from the brig Ellen of Arichat, wrecked in the Straits of Canso.

The schooner Amy of Arichat, with a crew of five persons, is missing; was last seen during the gale off Devil's Island with all hands working at the pumps. The captain leaves a widow and five children.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

The Epidemic at Shreveport.

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 14.—B. T. M. Jackson, telegraph operator, died of yellow fever yesterday. Roe, the telegraph manager, is not expected to recover.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14.—A Picayune special from Shreveport says the disease which is raging there is the genuine yellow fever of a very malignant type. No abatement is apparent. The sudden change in the weather proved fatal to the sick. The Howard Association is well organized and doing noble service, but the city being almost depopulated it is impossible to obtain nurses to attend the sick. Three physicians from New Orleans are there—Drs. Henry Smith, John J. Reilly and J. F. Finney.

The Times of this morning says yesterday's fatality far exceeded that of any day since the commencement of the epidemic. The rain and cold wind from the north, which is fatal to most cases, has had the effect to purify the atmosphere and in the opinion of our physicians will be conducive to the health of those who are now well and will assist many to recover who stood the sudden change. It is estimated that five hundred persons are down with the fever. The deaths so far amount to 146.

A dispatch to-day from Shreveport to the Howard Association reports the arrival of nurses and physicians there. Another dispatch signed by Drs. Smith, Finney and Reilly says no report you may have received from here can possibly exaggerate the condition of affairs. It is indeed deplorable. The Howard Association, in response to further appeals, will send a number of druggists and more nurses to-morrow. Twenty-four deaths, all whites, are reported for the twenty-four hours ending at six P. M. to-day. There were twenty-two deaths yesterday, all whites.

LATEST.

Press reports from Shreveport show fully 600 down with the fever.

APPEARANCE OF THE PLAGUE AT MEMPHIS.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 13.—At a meeting of the Board of Health Saturday a circular was issued announcing the existence of yellow fever in the northwestern part of the city among the blacks. Thirty deaths have occurred; only one death south of Poplar street. There was little excitement here before but it is expected large numbers of people will leave the city next week.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 14.—Considerable excitement to-day in consequence of the prevalence of yellow fever. A great many persons have left the city. Several new cases are reported in the southern part of the city this afternoon. The total number of interments to-day was fourteen, eleven of the deaths being caused by yellow fever. To-night and last night were unusually cool. It is hoped the frost will soon stop the disease.

ANTI-MONOPOLY DEMONSTRATION.

Grand Reception of Gov. Booth.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Gov. Booth was enthusiastically received last night on his return from Sacramento, with a procession, banners and illumination. He addressed six thousand persons from the balcony of the Grand Hotel, congratulating the people on a complete victory over the railroad monopoly. He referred to Stanford's statement Thursday at Sacramento, that the bonds of the company cannot be sold in the East or in Europe since the result of the election was made known. He said the bonds are worth as much now as ever, but if the credit of the company depended on pledging the manhood and independence of the people of California, the sooner its credit was destroyed the better.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

Suspension of Daniel Drew's Wall Street Firm.

NEW YORK, Sept 13, 11:30.—Considerable surprise was occasioned in the stock board this morning by the announcement of the suspension of Kenyon Cox & Co., one of the oldest and most respectable firms on the street. They give as an explanation their large endorsement of railroad paper, which they are unable to meet. They were promoters and heavily interested in the Canada Southern Railroad.

It was believed at first that the failure was due to heavy dealings in Wabash on Daniel Drew's account, and that the stock accordingly dropped four per cent. just before the announcement was formally made. It is since ascertained, however, that the Wabash pool was not in their office.

The firm consists of Kenyon Cox, a brother of Gov. Cox, of Ohio, Horace Manuel, W. H. Hutchinson and Daniel Drew. For years past the house has been known on the street as Daniel Drew's house. The amount of its liabilities is not yet stated. It is believed that there are sufficient assets to fully meet them. The whole market declined from one to four per cent. before the announcement, the failure being known to a few. The market has since, however, steadily improved.

A FUTILE EFFORT TO CREATE A PANIC.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—1:30 P. M.—The excitement over the suspension of Kenyon Cox & Co. has abated. Mr. Cox went to the Stock Exchange and paid all contracts. The suspension is temporary. Daniel Drew has been telegraphed for to Europe. There is no foundation for the statements being telegraphed over the country in the interest of bear operators that the suspension was caused by heavy Wabash speculations. The efforts to create a panic has apparently failed.

EFFECT OF THE NEW COINAGE ACT.

A Washington dispatch says the representation is made to the Treasury Department that the coinage act of 1873, by which the value of a pound sterling was altered from 484 to 486 65-100, will increase the protective duties upon imports from Great Britain to the United States little more than one-half of one per cent.

THE APOLLO HALL DEMOCRACY.

AN OFFICER KILLED.

Officer Gorman, on duty in front of the station house in Thirty-first street last night, was fatally stabbed by John Hogan. Hogan was drunk and noisy and the officer had ordered him to be quiet.

WHO BURNED COLUMBIA?

Some New Evidence in the Case.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The Chronicle will to-morrow publish the following letter from General Sherman in relation to the burning of Columbia:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES, WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.

To the Editor of the Chronicle:—

DEAR SIR:—When you applied to me some time ago for material bearing on the controversy of who burnt Columbia I gave you two printed pamphlets, which I had obtained from Judge Holt, containing all the testimony taken in the cotton cases growing out of that event and submitted to a mixed commission under treaty with Great Britain. Judge Holt could have obtained the testimony of all the eight or ten thousand officers and soldiers who were at or near Columbia when the conflagration occurred, but thought he had enough without putting the government to the expense of bringing more witnesses from a distance. I suppose he did not summon Colonel Stone, who commanded the leading brigade of the Fifteenth Corps, because he did not know where to find him. I surely did not know his whereabouts until he voluntarily published his statement. In my official report of the affair published before the close of the war, when Gen. Wade Hampton was fighting us and not when, as he alleges, he was a prisoner of war, I referred incidentally to a fact of which I had knowledge that a small detachment of the Fourteenth Corps had passed over the Congaree; had entered Columbia and hoisted a flag on the new State House in advance of the regular entry of the Fifteenth Corps, which had made a circuit to cross the two branches, Salinda and Broad, which make the Congaree. I treated the performance of this detachment as somewhat irregular, but the men who composed it now become important witnesses, and I herewith enclose copies of their written statements, together with the official reports, which explain the whole affair.

These witnesses go back to the time three quarters of an hour before the entry of the head of Stone's brigade and about two hours ahead of the time I personally reached the piles of burning cotton, of which there were many, and I invite your careful perusal of their statements, for they are positive that they saw the rebel cavalry soldiers ripping open bales of cotton and applying fire. They also saw rebel soldiers plundering stores on Main street, which General Hampton attributes to our men, and they further positively assert that Hampton had already gone out of Columbia, so that he could not and did not see his men applying the fire. Now Hampton admits the cotton was rolled out in the streets for the purpose of burning, but that he forbade the burning lest the fire should extend to the houses, and I reiterate no matter what his orders were the men of his army, either his rear guard or his stragglers, did apply the fire and that this was a sufficient cause for all else that followed.

W. T. SHERMAN, General.

THE MURDER RECORD.

Stabbing Affray in Jersey City.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—During an altercation in Jersey City to-day, Thomas Granville stabbed Randolph W. Thomas fatally. Granville was arrested.

BRUTAL MURDER IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Four men entered a saloon corner of Madison and Clark streets last night and taking seats at one of the tables called for beer, which was served them by one of the waiters, a young man whose name cannot be ascertained at this time. After drinking the four men started to leave the saloon, when the waiter requested the men to pay for the beer. One of the men replied he had paid for it and another waiter rejoined he had not. Some angry words followed and the waiter turned away and went behind the lunch counter near the bar, when the ruffian with whom he disputed drew a revolver and deliberately fired three shots at him, the third striking him full in the forehead and passed entirely through the head. The assassin fled, pursued by the bar-keeper, who was, however, unable ot overtake him, and the assassin is still at large.

THE WEATHER.

To-Day's Probabilities.

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS! Please read the good news. We have to inform our readers, especially those afflicted with any chronic or disease of long standing, that the celebrated old German doctor, formerly of Boston, where he was for a number of years the principal physician and surgeon of a leading hospital and infirmary, more latterly of Middletown, N. Y., through the urgent request of some of our citizens, has consented to establish a branch office in Kingston, for the purpose of treating such diseases as he makes a specialty of, such as the treatment of the eye and ear, blindness and deafness, no matter from what course, Catarrh in the head, diseases of the throat, dyspepsia and dyspeptic consumption, rheumatism, neuralgia, diseases of the liver and lungs, if the latter is not too far consumed, skin diseases, tumors, ulcers, saltrheum, scrofula and all skin diseases the human system is heir to. —It took three men and twenty boys to drive fifty calves down Division street on Sunday.

—C. Basch has two rich brothers in Prague, but they are no richer than he will be in a few years.

—H. W. Otis has to drive around pretty sharp on Sundays to see all the big buildings he has under way.

—Peaches are getting to be peaches. ☞ On Friday they sold for twenty-five and on Saturday from fifteen to twenty cents per quart.

—The city is getting short of money, having just enough on hand to pay warrants now out. When street assessments are collected the genial City Treasurer will have to mend the holes in his stockings again.

—The African M. E. Zion Church is making great efforts to raise money to repair its building. It is now proposed to have Fred. Douglass lecture in Music Hall. Success to our colored friends.

—The autumn matrimonial season has fully set in and we hear of numerous happy affairs to come off sooner or later. Our city is having a fair share of wedding parties and the dominies and young folks are kept in a state of gentle and pleasant excitement. To-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock the Rondout Presbyterian Church will be the scene of a happy bridal ceremony, one of Rondout's best and fairest maidens being led to the altar by a young gentleman well known in business and social circles here. Saturday 60 canal boats laden with 7,590 tons of coal reached tide water at Eddyville through the Delaware & Hudson canal.

Accident.

A young man named John Tammany was thrown out of the wagon attached to a horse which started to run away as he was driving it down the hill at the cement works, Ponckhockie, on Saturday. He received some pretty severe bruises, but no very serious injury.

The Rhinebeck Races.

Major King was also beaten by Enigma, winning the first heat in 2:36½, but Enigma winning the other three in 2:35½, 2:35½, 2:39½.

"Mollie Darling."

There it goes again, "Do you love me, Mollie, darling?" and it's the last thing you hear at night and the first thing in the morning. Pianos, violins, accordeons, and even church organs sound the praises of the mythical damsel, while all the hoodlums continually do cry "Do you love me, Mollie, darling?" It appears as though all males, young and old, had surrendered to the charms of the fascinating Mollie, for we eat, drink, work, smoke and read, and even sleep to the tune of "Mollie, darling." Trot out this wonderful Mollie and let's have a look at the darling.

Fatal Accident.

On Saturday forenoon about ten o'clock a number of men were at work in the quarry of the Capital Line & Cement Co. at Hillsdale, near Hickory Bush, and were prying out a large rock when it fell and caught one of the men, named Henry J. Coumbe, so as to hold his head fastened between it and the main rock. Coumbe was released from his awful situation, when his head was found crushed in and horribly mangled. He was taken to his home and lingered in his agonizing condition until two o'clock Sunday morning, when he died. He was about 33 years old and leaves a wife and five children.

Got What He Wanted.

The other day a horse attached to a wagon ran away uptown and as the animal galloped madly along the street the owner hurried after him, calling out to the pedestrians to stop him. Two men rushed out and at the risk of being killed caught the animal by the bit. The check was so sudden the horse gave a plunge high in the air and then fell backward to the ground, breaking one of the shafts of the wagon. The owner came up mad as he could be because the two men had broken the shaft. He felt just like fighting, and wanted to fight so bad he pitched into the two chaps, and the result was he got a tremendous thrashing. He feels better satisfied now.

Fatal Accident.

A sad and fatal accident happened at Lock 36, on Friday night of last week. Charles Tubbs, a young man about seventeen years of ago, while playing with another young man who was tending lock, caught his foot in the wires that are fastened to the paddle rods, by which they are worked, and fell into the lock alongside of a light boat. While the lock was filling he got under the boat and was drowned before any assistance could be rendered, although there were several who saw the young man fall in. He was in the water about forty minutes before he could be got out.—Ellenville Journal.

Between Two Loads of Hay.

The uptown people are in great trouble because two grand weddings are to come off on the same day (Thursday) next week, and in such a manner it will be impossible for those who may be the proud possessors of a card to each to attend both. One will be conducted on the most aristocratic principles uptown, while the other will be conducted on like aristocratic customs at Stone Ridge. Both will be grand affairs, and the one in the country quite likely will be ushered in with an eclat that will make the hearts sad of all those who cannot attend it. Whether the secret council of three have caused this perplexing state of affairs we have not been able to ascertain, but we do know the nerves of many a fair maiden in the upper part of the city has been sadly racked in coming to a decision in regard to those matters.

RIVER NOTES.

The Troy Times says: Our population is increasing. One physician has assisted at nine births, this week, and his services are still in demand.

Henry Coleman, principal of the Eastman College, Poughkeepsie, was married on Thursday at the Holy Cross church to a young lady resident in Troy.

The Citizen's Steamboat Company, of Troy, has declared a four per cent. dividend.

A child of Stephen Whitbeck (colored), aged about three years, was drowned in a creek at Stuyvesant a day or two since.

The Coeymans Herald says a few days since a stone as large as a good-sized butternut, and supposed to be a diamond of the first water, was found on the farm of a Mr. Carr, near Indian Fields, in the town of Coeymans. All who have seen the stone are of the opinion that it is a genuine diamond. It is more probable that is genuine quartz.

The cash drawer of Wilcoxson & Co., freighters at Stuyvesant, was forced open and $170 in money and a check for $30 stolen on Tuesday morning. The bookkeeper left the office when the steamer Martin landed, and two boys who took passage on the Martin are supposed to have committed the robbery during his absence.

A writer who recently visited the Shakers at Albany county, N. Y., believes that their zeal and members are declining. Unless a religious revival occurs to replenish their numbers, their existence as a community will necessarily cease.

From $1,000 to $4,000 worth of bonds of the New York & Saugerties Transportation Company can now be had below par, with the dividend of the present year included, by applying to Isaac Rosepaugh, who has them for sale.

The Catskill Fire Department election on Wednesday resulted in the choice of Oliver Bourke, Chief Engineer, C. M. Baldwin, First Assistant, and R. A. Browere, Second Assistant.

Very wisely the proprietor of the Catskill Mountain House has decided to keep it open throughout the autumn, which, as all tourists know, is the most delightful season of the year among the mountains. Already the maple leaves have commenced to turn and in six weeks the forests will be in their full glory.

The Peekskill Messenger is ungallant enough to say that out of forty girls in the public school of that place none could tell how many years Washington was President, but they knew to a cent the cost of any kind of bustle in market.

We learn that a hurling match is now being arranged to take place some day next week between the employees of the Pennsylvania Coal Company—a picked fifteen from each dock. This being something new in the sporting line it will attract considerable attention from many who have never witnessed this game.

Fire.

About half-past ten o'clock last night an alarm of fire was sounded and it was soon found to be caused by a fire in the barn of Mr. D. C. Reid, the agent of the American Express Company, located on Catherine street and in rear of his office on Garden street. The alarm brought out the Fire Department, Weber Hose being first at the scene of action, while the other companies soon followed, Lackawanna Steamer coming down in gallant style and good time mainly propelled by a detachment of The Freeman night force. Lackawanna's "Old Maria" soon got to work, but owing to the fact that Lindsley Steamer had crossed her hose on its way to the dock, causing a bad burst, she could not play a very effective stream, but it was not prudent to uncouple and replace the injured hose till a stream could be obtained from another engine; which accounts for the weak stream first thrown on the fire. Soon, however, No. 2 Steamer and Protector 4 were at work, quickly followed by Ponckhockie Steamer, when the fire was speedily subdued, not, however, until it had spread to the barn and storehouse of A. A. Crosby & Co., which were burned and endangered and slightly damaged several other surrounding buildings, among them the Sherman House, now in process of reconstruction. Lafayette Engine of South Rondout also came over, but its services were not needed.

The building of Mr. Reid contained three horses and a small quantity of hay. The horses were safely removed, although two of them were turned loose in the street and up to a late hour last night had not been found. The harness was also saved, as were the wagons, which stood in the yard of the building and were drawn to a secure place. The only loss was the building, which was a small frame one, and a small quantity of hay contained in it.

The building of Crosby & Co. which caught from Reid's building was of frame and used as a storehouse, contained at the time a large quantity of spokes, grindstone frames, three mowing machines and various agricultural implements, besides a number of grindstones and kegs of horse shoes. This building was totally destroyed and very little saved of its contents, nothing being removed from the second floor. Adjoining the frame building was a brick one, also owned by Crosby & Co., and occupied as a stable and storehouse.—Two horses, one a handsome little pony, were in the building at the time. These, with three wagons, a sleigh and harness were safely removed and taken to Patchen's stable. The building was almost entirely destroyed, a part of the walls being left. Crosby & Co. estimate their loss at a hasty calculation at $4,000 at least on stock, which does not include seventy-five tons of Cumberland coal which caught fire, though it was not known to what extent it was damaged. The amount of insurance could not be ascertained, at the time. There was an insurance of $1,000 on the frame building and $500 on the brick one.

The building of James Olney, next to that of Crosby & Co., caught fire near the roof and was slightly damaged. The cornices and roofs of the buildings surrounding were somewhat scorched, but no serious injury done them.

Among the incidents of the fire was the report that a quantity of powder was stored in Crosby & Co.'s building, which, though unfounded, caused a lively stampede for a few moments. The report was undoubtedly caused by the sight of some kegs of horse shoes standing inside.

It is extremely fortunate that there was no wind at the time, for had it blown in any direction a destructive conflagration must have ensued.

Ulster Seminary.

Rev. A. McIntyre, having purchased from Mrs. Post the school building and grounds adjoining, on Maple avenue, proposes to open therein on Tuesday, the 23d instant, a boarding and day school for both sexes, to be known as the Ulster Seminary. Rev. Mr. McIntyre, the proprietor and principal, brings to this undertaking the fruit of large and successful experience as an instructor. He will be assisted by Mrs. McIntyre, and other competent teachers in the several departments. The design is to make this school a permanent institution that shall be creditable to the place and afford students all possible facilities for acquiring a thorough English business or classical education. Instruction will also be given in the modern languages, music, painting, etc. The school building is now being fitted up, and will be in readiness for the reception of pupils at the date above specified. It is the intention of the proprietor at an early day to enlarge the building upon the ground, and add a third story. Such improvements and additions will be made from time to time as circumstances may require.—Ellenville Journal.

Ellenville Driving Park Races.

LAST DAY.

ELLENVILLE, Sept. 12.

To-day was the last day of the Ellenville Driving Park races. A matched race, independent of the association, was arranged to come off in the forenoon at 10 A. M. Three horses were entered and two heats trotted, when it became so palpable that the race was a put-up job in the interests of the gamblers that the judges decided "no race" and all bets off.

The $200 race was closely contested, and, as events proved, furnished an extra note in the bills. The first three heats were trotted without accident and won with most of the horses in a bunch. On the fourth heat the sulky of Roan Spangle locked with that of Jennie Carrol, throwing both horses. Harry Bassett, who was directly in the rear and very close, ran into the mass, horse and sulky turning a complete somersault and throwing the driver some fifteen feet in the air. When the dust cleared away the three horses and sulkies were seen piled together with the drivers scattered in different directions. Strange to say only the driver of Harry Basset (John P. Hale) was seriously hurt and the horses were able to trot the next beat.

The following is the summary:

The Launch.

On Saturday last at 5:45 P. M. the large schooner built for Mr. Henry H. Pitts of this city by John Snyder on the yard of Francis Haber, at New Salem, was successfully launched. All the young ladies, and a goodly number of those not so young, of New Salem and Eddyville were present to witness the launch, and two sailing parties from down the creek were off the yard in their boats, one of which was manned entirely with ladies, waiting to see the vessel glide into the waters of the creek. A few minutes after 5 o'clock the steamer John Dillon arrived with a party on board, among whom was one of the Misses Booth, who was to have named the schooner, but about the time the Dillon arrived the clouds, which had been threatening rain, began to weep, causing a general stampede of the large crowd of spectators for the sheds on the yard, which were soon packed full of people. Our reporter and a well-known saccha-riferous-insurance clerk took refuge under a particularly leaky shed, where they were wedged in between some tar and paint pots on one hand, and two "Sopianders," one of whom had evidently regaled himself with unstinted onions, while the other emitted a pungent but by no means fragrant odor as of frequent potations of Jamaica rum, on the other, and in this manner the launch was viewed. Some few brave spirits, with extraordinarily large umbrellas, did "bide the pitiless peltings of the storm" on the schooner's deck and glide with her down the ways, not exactly into old ocean's arms, but into those of one of his not very distant relatives. At 5:45 precisely (we are positive about the time, because the reporter had made a bet with the sacchariferous chap that he would begin to melt before the reporter was wet through, and they were both watching the time closely) the schooner's shores were knocked away, and amid the cheers from the spectators under the sheds and the screams of the steam whistles of the John Dillon, the Maurice Wurts and the cement mill, she slid down the ways into the creek, as easily and gracefully as if she had done it every day for a long life time. Owing to the severity of the storm which prevailed the ladies in attendance were unable to go on deck, and Mr. Nathaniel Booth performed the ceremony of breaking the bottle of wine on her bow. The vessel was christened Henry H. Pitts. After the launch refreshments were served to those in attendance, as well as to the men engaged on the vessel. Most of the spectators, however, without waiting to partake of the collation, waded out of the ship-yard toward their several homes, the young ladies, so brave in crisp muslins but a short time before, looking as bedraggled and sad as sea-sick chickens. The ride home of the reporter and the insurance man being only one of the incidents to the launch, we will merely remark that it rained some—but then there was no dust.

The schooner being one of the largest vessels ever constructed on the Rondout Creek, we give the following description of her: Length, 97 feet; breadth of beam, 30 ft. 6 in.; depth of hold, 9 ft. 2 in.; tonnage, 400 tons. The frame is of extra strong construction, being built of 6-inch oak and locust timber and bolted as strong as can be done with iron. The clamps are 5¼x36 inches and edge bolted throughout. The deck beams are all of oak, 12x12 and every one a natural crook. The planking is all of white oak fastened with galvanized spikes and 6,000 trunnels. The vessel is well salted to prevent rot, having 160 bushels of salt in her. Length of spars: foremast 78 feet; mainmast 80 feet; topmasts 50 feet each; main boom 70 feet; fore boom 38 feet; bowsprit 36 feet; flying jib boom 50 feet. The spars are not yet in the vessel, except, of course, the bowsprit, they not having been sent from New York, where they were gotten out, but she will be rigged in a first-class manner and have all the modern improvements. The schooner has two timber ports, one on each side the cut water. The vessel was constructed under the inspection of the American Shipmasters' Association, of which Captains Darling of the Atlantic Insurance Company and Wilson of the Commercial Insurance Company are the inspectors. Every futtock in the frame is a natural crook of white oak, and they were all selected while growing in the forest by her owner and the builder more than a year since, and are consequently now well seasoned. She has patent trunk and stop-waters. There were seven tons of iron used in bolting; four in the keelson alone. The inspectors said when they inspected her she had the heaviest deck frame and keelsons of any vessel of her size they ever saw. She is intended for the general freighting and coasting trade, and her cost is about $24,000. Mr. John Kelly had the contract for fastening, trunneling and caulking the vessel, and did it in a thoroughly workmanlike manner and to the entire satisfaction of Mr. Pitts.

Mr. Pitts has had several applications from experienced coasting masters to sell a captain's interest—one quarter—of the vessel, which applications he has yet under consideration. The vessel, as a specimen of naval architecture and mechanical skill, is an honor to her builder and those employed in her construction, as well as her owner, and we hope her career will be a long, useful and remunerative one.

Mr. Pitts, the owner of the vessel, received the hearty congratulations of his friends present on the success of the launch and was presented by a number of lady acquaintances with many very handsome bouquets.

—One of a train of freight cars on the Schenectady & Athens railroad took fire from some cause Monday afternoon, near Coeymans, and before the flames were discovered they had communicated to other cars, and all were destroyed.

—An old Troy river man says he is disgusted to bear people nowadays talk of low water in the Hudson. He remarks that he can remember well, years ago, when the river was low. He asseverates that one time all the passengers on the New York boat had to close their windows during the entire trip down because the steamer's wheels raised such a dust!

County Court and Court of Sessions.

On Saturday morning the Court decided the motion of non-suit in the case of Hadden vs. James Anderson, trustee, etc., against the defendant and directed a verdict for plaintiff for $116.75, being fifteen dollars per week for the seven weeks, with interest on the same.

No. 27, Jonathan Embree vs. Theodore Snedeker, was then tried. The attorneys are T. R. Westbrook for plaintiff, M. Schoonmaker and Howard Chipp, Jr., for defendant. The plaintiff claims that by an order of the Surrogate of Ulster county a claim defendant had against the estate of one Anthony Clawson, deceased, was referred to Burnett McClelland, William Merrihew and Benjamin B. Shute, to hear and determine. The referees tried the case and November 27th, 1856, decided that Jane W. Cutler, administratrix of Anthony Clawson, deceased, should pay Embree, plaintiff, the sum of $100, and that such administratrix should pay all the expenses and costs of the reference, such costs amounting to $115.92. That the property of Clawson, deceased, was purchased by one Sands Beach, and in the spring of 1871 said Beach sold the same to Theodore Snedeker, the defendant, the condition of the sale being that Snedeker should pay the claim of the above named plaintiff and the costs of the said reference The plaintiff therefore brings his action to recover the said $217.75. The chief point and fight in the case is upon the question whether there was an agreement between Beach and Snedeker that Snedeker should pay the amount awarded by the referees and costs. The plaintiff claimed the agreement of sale had been destroyed and Mr. Embree testified the agreement of sale contained the clause that Snedeker would pay $2,600 for the property and satisfy Embree's claim, while Justice Montanye testified that he drew the agreement and that afterwards Snedeker came in his store and wanted to look at it. He then refused to give it up. The defendant's counsel made a motion to non-suit the plaintiff on the ground no title to property had been shown by Beach; that no sufficient consideration had been shown. The Court overruled the motion.

Justice F. D. L. Montanye was then put on the stand as the witness for defendant; (a paper was handed witness and he was asked if that was not a copy of the agreement made by witness of the agreement between Beach and Snedeker.) Witness—I cannot swear that is the copy of whole contract; it seems to be a copy of the paper; I generally copy all the contract; it is possible, in the haste of copying, I might have left out a part of the agreement in the copy; don't know whether Snedeker read while I copied or not. I did not put anything in that was not in the contract with my knowledge. (This copy does not contain the clause agreeing to pay the claim of Embree.)

Theodore Snedeker—I remember agreement; the paper is a copy of original; after I had title to the property, Mr. Montanye gave me the original; the original is destroyed; I destroyed it, because it was of no further use.

Cross-examined—I have a deed of the property; I paid the money to the heirs of the property; gave mortgage to the wife of Beach of $1,200. Before deeds were made I took possession of property; I occupied the property under the agreement of Beach; Joseph Beach and Stephen Shultis occupied the property before I did; Joseph is a son of Sands Beach; I asked Montanye for the agreement; he gave it to me; Montanye asked me for it; I did not give it to him but burned it up; put it in the stove; did not tell him I had burned it; I had no motive for burning up the copy; when Montanye wrote the copy of the agreement I took the copy and he took the original; we then compared it.

The case was then closed.

Dot's Nice.

Henry Weiner is an enthusiast on many points and on none more so than on trying—and succeeding pretty well—in keeping the finest and largest stock of imported cigars in the place. Then Henry has such an inviting air! He just winks at a man passing by and the man pops in and Henry gives him a nice Henry Clay, or Opera, or Rosa Concha, and the man sits down and puffs away in ecstacy, while Henry looks on and enjoys it. Then the man begins to talk about what a bully cigar that is, and Henry gets up, kinder careless like, and opens the case and shows his stock, and a new kink he has in the shape of a patent paper cigar case. Then the man says "Fill 'er up," and Henry does so and takes his money for the five he has sold, but not for the one and the case he has given away. Then the man goes out and both are happy. Henry is a nice young man and he knows how to sell nice cigars.

A Marriage Ring.

Rings have been quite a favorite institution of late in the country, but we never, until now, have heard of a ring to control the affections and natural proclivities of the fair sex. There is such a ring up town, composed of several handsome young men, who have pledged themselves to govern the affections of the eligible young ladies in that part of the city, that is those who shine in aristocratic circles, and shine in regard to their parents' income as well. This organization, which is secret, and has only been discovered by a mere accident, has already succeeded in making its powerful influence felt in the society of upper Kingston. No aristocratic wedding can be well conducted unless one or two of the members of this organization are the main movers, and we have known one wedding where this band even governed the issuing of invitations. We believe it has not yet come to pass that ladies must submit propositions of marriage to this ring, but there's no knowing what power they may exert in time, for this secret council of three already have the full power to lop off the society trunk of any one against whom an accusation may be made, and like the once famed Venetian Council of Three, there is no appeal from their decrees.

Rapid Hose Carriage.

The carriage of Rapid Hose Company, which has been rebuilt at the works of Edward B. Leverich, at 21 Hicks street, Brooklyn, under the superintendence of Joseph Pine, and which returned to this city on Thursday night last, is painted a delicate pearl color, with a gold stripe bordered with blue, and picked out with vermillion. The lamps are silver, one on each side of the reel, with yellow glass, on which is Rapid 1, and the signal light is of silver with red glass, on which is the name and number of the company. On the forward box is a portrait of Mr. Donald McMillan, the first chief engineer of the Rondout Fire Department.—On the box are also the words "Organized June 24th, 1860" in gilt letters on a blue scroll. Above the portrait just mentioned is a silver plate on which is engraved "Rebuilt by Edward B. Leverich, 21 Hicks street, Brooklyn, N. Y., Joseph Pine, Superindent." The panels of the reel are handsomely painted with fancy designs in bright colors and gilt, and on the side of the reel is a silver plate with "Joseph Pine, Builder, N.Y.," engraved upon it. All the iron work is polished, the hubs of the wheels are silver, and the paint work being highly varnished the carriage shines like an icicle in the sun. The old hose jacket with a fire scene and a demented looking fireman on the front, and an insane looking Indian clasping a lackadaisical, knock-kneed squaw to his mahogany bosom while he points to some queer looking specimens of naval architecture in the very dim distance, is still a conspicuous object on the carriage and should be repainted in, at least, a less pretentious manner.

The carriage is now a very handsome one and reflects credit on Mr. Leverich for the taste displayed in its redecoration. The Rapid boys may well feel a little vain, for there is no company along the river that can drag a handsomer carriage than they turn out.

Business.

Messrs. J. & J. McCausland on Saturday launched from their yard at Burgess Hook the barge New Jersey, belonging to the Newark Ice Company, after having given her a thorough overhauling in the style which has made them well known as competent and reliable workmen. The barge is a very large and heavy one and the repairs were extensive.

The firm has received a fine lot of ship plank from Lewisburg, Pa., which had to go so far around to get here that the man who accompanied it says he's nearer home now than when he started. If a fellow can't understand this that sanctimonious joker, James, will take out his pencil and figure it out as plain as the button on the back of your collar-band.

OUR MOTHERS, who were the best and tidiest housewives in the world—excepting our grandmothers!—took especial pride in the possession of rows of tinware that glistened like a polished mirror. Every article about their houses susceptible of polish, including the brass knocker, was regularly brightened up until it fairly glistened. With their primitive materials, such as Bath brick, emery, rotten stone, etc., it was a serious labor, albeit one of love. Now-a-days, however, their daughters use Sapolio, and in one hour can polish more articles and do it better than they could in a whole day. If you wish to excel your mothers in the brightness of your kitchen ware, use Sapolio.

A few drops in water, taken internally, also helps wonderfully. It is safe and delicious to use. Try it. Sold by R. Deyo and all druggists in Rondout and Kingston.

AUTUMN IS AT THE DOOR!

THE FALL SEWING MUST BE COMMENCED?

Are You Properly Prepared?

We cannot offer you much in way of STITCHES, but are on hand to help you efficiently as possible by furnishing the

for outfits for your girls, clothing for your boys and all the various articles demanded for family comfort, housekeeping conveniences and the pleasant equipment of home. Our plans for the fall are:

To Keep a Better Stock

Than usual, to push our trade in handsome and substantial goods as rapidly as demand will justify, and to stand fast by the honored principle that has made our store popular and our business successful, viz.:

ONE PRICE TO ALL

And the fair truth as to quality of what we sell.

At the opening of the fall season we take occasion to correct some evident misapprehension as to our style of TRUSTING. We are not disposed to make

as to trade made by any of our well-known customers, and it is our wish and our interest to be obliging to all, but we MUST be understood as positively determined

NOT TO DO A CREDIT BUSINESS!

Such of our reliable customers as find the usual Thirty days a convenience, are entirely welcome to the time, if payment is promptly made, but we make no offer of running accounts and cannot consent to do anything but a strictly

CASH BUSINESS.

This is simply just to our trade and aside from convenience to ourselves, the maintenance of the principle is of real importance to our customers, for we cannot sell goods at the very close margins we now make if our profits are to be cut down by losses sure to come with any general credit trade.

CITY NOTES.

—This is a good time to tell people what fall goods you have.

—Summer overcoats are just the thing for evening promenaders.

—The greatest fellows for excursions are the ice-men. They take one every evening on a fast tug.

—It took three men and twenty boys to drive fifty calves down Division street on Sunday.

—Rev. Mr. Keyes of New York preached a good sound sermon in the Rondout M. E. Church on Sunday morning.

—C. Basch has two rich brothers in Prague, but they are no richer than he will be in a few years.

—H. W. Otis has to drive around pretty sharp on Sundays to see all the big buildings he has under way.

—Peaches are getting to be peaches. ☞ On Friday they sold for twenty-five and on Saturday from fifteen to twenty cents per quart.

—The city is getting short of money, having just enough on hand to pay warrants now out. When street assessments are collected the genial City Treasurer will have to mend the holes in his stockings again.

—The African M. E. Zion Church is making great efforts to raise money to repair its building. It is now proposed to have Fred. Douglass lecture in Music Hall. Success to our colored friends.

—The autumn matrimonial season has fully set in and we hear of numerous happy affairs to come off sooner or later. Our city is having a fair share of wedding parties and the dominies and young folks are kept in a state of gentle and pleasant excitement. To-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock the Rondout Presbyterian Church will be the scene of a happy bridal ceremony, one of Rondout's best and fairest maidens being led to the altar by a young gentleman well known in business and social circles here. A host of friends join in wishing the happy couple a rose-tinted future.

The Rhinebeck Races.

John J. Hoornbeck took his eggs to a bad market on Friday. His Wiltwyck and Major King were beaten in the double team race in three straight heats by Weeks and Lankey in 3:03½, 2:57½. Major King was also beaten by Enigma, winning the first heat in 2:36¾, but Enigma winning the other three in 2:35¼, 2:35½, 2:39½.

Republican candidate for Supreme Court Judge—Rufus H. King of Catskill.

"Mollie Darling."

There it goes again, "Do you love me, Mollie, darling?" and it's the last thing you hear at night and the first thing in the morning. Pianos, violins, accordeons, and even church organs sound the praises of the mythical damsel, while all the hoodlums continually do cry "Do you love me, Mollie, darling?" It appears as though all males, young and old, had surrendered to the charms of the fascinating Mollie, for we eat, drink, work, smoke and read, and even sleep to the tune of "Mollie, darling." Trot out this wonderful Mollie and let's have a look at the darling.

Fatal Accident.

On Saturday forenoon about ten o'clock a number of men were at work in the quarry of the Capital Line & Cement Co. at Hillsdale, near Hickory Bush, and were prying out a large rock when it fell and caught one of the men, named Henry J. Coumbe, so as to hold his head fastened between it and the main rock. Coumbe was released from his awful situation, when his head was found crushed in and horribly mangled. He was taken to his home and lingered in his agonizing condition until two o'clock Sunday morning, when he died. He was about 33 years old and leaves a wife and five children.

Got What He Wanted.

The other day a horse attached to a wagon ran away uptown and as the animal galloped madly along the street the owner hurried after him, calling out to the pedestrians to stop him. Two men rushed out and at the risk of being killed caught the animal by the bit. The check was so sudden the horse gave a plunge high in the air and then fell backward to the ground, breaking one of the shafts of the wagon. The owner came up mad as he could be because the two men had broken the shaft. He felt just like fighting, and wanted to fight so bad he pitched into the two chaps, and the result was he got a tremendous thrashing. He feels better satisfied now.

Fatal Accident.

A sad and fatal accident happened at Lock 36, on Friday night of last week. Charles Tubbs, a young man about seventeen years of ago, while playing with another young man who was tending lock, caught his foot in the wires that are fastened to the paddle rods, by which they are worked, and fell into the lock alongside of a light boat. While the lock was filling he got under the boat and was drowned before any assistance could be rendered, although there were several who saw the young man fall in. He was in the water about forty minutes before he could be got out.—Ellenville Journal.

Between Two Loads of Hay.

The uptown people are in great trouble because two grand weddings are to come off on the same day (Thursday) next week, and in such a manner it will be impossible for those who may be the proud possessors of a card to each to attend both. One will be conducted on the most aristocratic principles uptown, while the other will be conducted on like aristocratic customs at Stone Ridge. Both will be grand affairs, and the one in the country quite likely will be ushered in with an eclat that will make the hearts sad of all those who cannot attend it. Whether the secret council of three have caused this perplexing state of affairs we have not been able to ascertain, but we do know the nerves of many a fair maiden in the upper part of the city has been sadly racked in coming to a decision in regard to those matters.

RIVER NOTES.

The Troy Times says: Our population is increasing. One physician has assisted at nine births, this week, and his services are still in demand.

Henry Coleman, principal of the Eastman College, Poughkeepsie, was married on Thursday at the Holy Cross church to a young lady resident in Troy.

The Citizen's Steamboat Company, of Troy, has declared a four per cent. dividend.

A child of Stephen Whitbeck (colored), aged about three years, was drowned in a creek at Stuyvesant a day or two since.

The Coeymans Herald says a few days since a stone as large as a good-sized butternut, and supposed to be a diamond of the first water, was found on the farm of a Mr. Carr, near Indian Fields, in the town of Coeymans. All who have seen the stone are of the opinion that it is a genuine diamond. It is more probable that is genuine quartz.

The cash drawer of Wilcoxson & Co., freighters at Stuyvesant, was forced open and $170 in money and a check for $30 stolen on Tuesday morning. The bookkeeper left the office when the steamer Martin landed, and two boys who took passage on the Martin are supposed to have committed the robbery during his absence.

A writer who recently visited the Shakers at Albany county, N. Y., believes that their zeal and members are declining. Unless a religious revival occurs to replenish their numbers, their existence as a community will necessarily cease.

From $1,000 to $4,000 worth of bonds of the New York & Saugerties Transportation Company can now be had below par, with the dividend of the present year included, by applying to Isaac Rosepaugh, who has them for sale.

The Catskill Fire Department election on Wednesday resulted in the choice of Oliver Bonrke, Chief Engineer, C. M. Baldwin, First Assistant, and R. A. Browere, Second Assistant.

Very wisely the proprietor of the Catskill Mountain House has decided to keep it open throughout the autumn, which, as all tourists know, is the most delightful season of the year among the mountains. Already the maple leaves have commenced to turn and in six weeks the forests will be in their full glory.

The Peekskill Messenger is ungallant enough to say that out of forty girls in the public school of that place none could tell how many years Washington was President, but they knew to a cent the cost of any kind of bustle in market.

We learn that a hurling match is now being arranged to take place some day next week between the employees of the Pennsylvania Coal Company—a picked fifteen from each dock. This being something new in the sporting line it will attract considerable attention from many who have never witnessed this game.

Fire.

About half-past ten o'clock last night an alarm of fire was sounded and it was soon found to be caused by a fire in the barn of Mr. D. C. Reid, the agent of the American Express Company, located on Catherine street and in rear of his office on Garden street. The alarm brought out the Fire Department, Weber Hose being first at the scene of action, while the other companies soon followed, Lackawanna Steamer coming down in gallant style and good time mainly propelled by a detachment of The Freeman night force. Lackawanna's "Old Maria" soon got to work, but owing to the fact that Lindsley Steamer had crossed her hose on its way to the dock, causing a bad burst, she could not play a very effective stream, but it was not prudent to uncouple and replace the injured hose till a stream could be obtained from another engine; which accounts for the weak stream first thrown on the fire. Soon, however, No. 2 Steamer and Protector 4 were at work, quickly followed by Ponckhockie Steamer, when the fire was speedily subdued, not, however, until it had spread to the barn and storehouse of A. A. Crosby & Co., which were burned and endangered and slightly damaged several other surrounding buildings, among them the Sherman House, now in process of reconstruction. Lafayette Engine of South Rondout also came over, but its services were not needed.

The building of Mr. Reid contained three horses and a small quantity of hay. The horses were safely removed, although two of them were turned loose in the street and up to a late hour last night had not been found. The harness was also saved, as were the wagons, which stood in the yard of the building and were drawn to a secure place. The only loss was the building, which was a small frame one, and a small quantity of hay contained in it.

The building of Crosby & Co. which caught from Reid's building was of frame and used as a storehouse, contained at the time a large quantity of spokes, grindstone frames, three mowing machines and various agricultural implements, besides a number of grindstones and kegs of horse shoes. This building was totally destroyed and very little saved of its contents, nothing being removed from the second floor. Adjoining the frame building was a brick one, also owned by Crosby & Co., and occupied as a stable and storehouse.—Two horses, one a handsome little pony, were in the building at the time. These, with three wagons, a sleigh and harness were safely removed and taken to Patchen's stable. The building was almost entirely destroyed, a part of the walls being left. Crosby & Co. estimate their loss at a hasty calculation at $4,000 at least on stock, which does not include seventy-five tons of Cumberland coal which caught fire, though it was not known to what extent it was damaged. The amount of insurance could not be ascertained, at the time. There was an insurance of $1,000 on the frame building and $500 on the brick one.

The building of James Olney, next to that of Crosby & Co., caught fire near the roof and was slightly damaged. The cornices and roofs of the buildings surrounding were somewhat scorched, but no serious injury done them.

Among the incidents of the fire was the report that a quantity of powder was stored in Crosby & Co.'s building, which, though unfounded, caused a lively stampede for a few moments. The report was undoubtedly caused by the sight of some kegs of horse shoes standing inside.

It is extremely fortunate that there was no wind at the time, for had it blown in any direction a destructive conflagration must have ensued.

Ulster Seminary.

Rev. A. McIntyre, having purchased from Mrs. Post the school building and grounds adjoining, on Maple avenue, proposes to open therein on Tuesday, the 23d instant, a boarding and day school for both sexes, to be known as the Ulster Seminary. Rev. Mr. McIntyre, the proprietor and principal, brings to this undertaking the fruit of large and successful experience as an instructor. He will be assisted by Mrs. McIntyre, and other competent teachers in the several departments. The design is to make this school a permanent institution that shall be creditable to the place and afford students all possible facilities for acquiring a thorough English business or classical education. Instruction will also be given in the modern languages, music, painting, etc. The school building is now being fitted up, and will be in readiness for the reception of pupils at the date above specified. It is the intention of the proprietor at an early day to enlarge the building upon the ground, and add a third story. Such improvements and additions will be made from time to time as circumstances may require.—Ellenville Journal.

Ellenville Driving Park Races.

LAST DAY.

ELLENVILLE, Sept. 12.

To-day was the last day of the Ellenville Driving Park races. A matched race, independent of the association, was arranged to come off in the forenoon at 10 A. M. Three horses were entered and two heats trotted, when it became so palpable that the race was a put-up job in the interests of the gamblers that the judges decided "no race" and all bets off.

The $200 race was closely contested, and, as events proved, furnished an extra note in the bills. The first three heats were trotted without accident and won with most of the horses in a bunch. On the fourth heat the sulky of Roan Spangle locked with that of Jennie Carrol, throwing both horses. Harry Bassett, who was directly in the rear and very close, ran into the mass, horse and sulky turning a complete somersault and throwing the driver some fifteen feet in the air. When the dust cleared away the three horses and sulkies were seen piled together with the drivers scattered in different directions. Strange to say only the driver of Harry Basset (John P. Hale) was seriously hurt and the horses were able to trot the next beat.

The following is the summary:

The Launch.

On Saturday last at 5:45 P. M. the large schooner built for Mr. Henry H. Pitts of this city by John Snyder on the yard of Francis Haber, at New Salem, was successfully launched. All the young ladies, and a goodly number of those not so young, of New Salem and Eddyville were present to witness the launch, and two sailing parties from down the creek were off the yard in their boats, one of which was manned entirely with ladies, waiting to see the vessel glide into the waters of the creek. A few minutes after 5 o'clock the steamer John Dillon arrived with a party on board, among whom was one of the Misses Booth, who was to have named the schooner, but about the time the Dillon arrived the clouds, which had been threatening rain, began to weep, causing a general stampede of the large crowd of spectators for the sheds on the yard, which were soon packed full of people. Our reporter and a well-known sacchariferous-insurance clerk took refuge under a particularly leaky shed, where they were wedged in between some tar and paint pots on one hand, and two "Sopianders," one of whom had evidently regaled himself with unstinted onions, while the other emitted a pungent but by no means fragrant odor as of frequent potations of Jamaica rum, on the other, and in this manner the launch was viewed. Some few brave spirits, with extraordinarily large umbrellas, did "bide the pitiless peltings of the storm" on the schooner's deck and glide with her down the ways, not exactly into old ocean's arms, but into those of one of his not very distant relatives. At 5:45 precisely (we are positive about the time because the reporter had made a bet with the sacchariferous chap that he would begin to melt before the reporter was wet through, and they were both watching the time closely) the schooner's shores were knocked away, and amid the cheers from the spectators under the sheds and the screams of the steam whistles of the John Dillon, the Maurice Wurts and the cement mill, she slid down the ways into the creek, as easily and gracefully as if she had done it every day for a long life time. Owing to the severity of the storm which prevailed the ladies in attendance were unable to go on deck, and Mr. Nathaniel Booth performed the ceremony of breaking the bottle of wine on her bow. The vessel was christened Henry H. Pitts. After the launch refreshments were served to those in attendance, as well as to the men engaged on the vessel. Most of the spectators, however, without waiting to partake of the collation, waded out of the ship-yard toward their several homes, the young ladies, so brave in crisp muslins but a short time before, looking as bedraggled and sad as sea-sick chickens. The ride home of the reporter and the insurance man being only one of the incidents to the launch, we will merely remark that it rained some—but then there was no dust.

The schooner being one of the largest vessels ever constructed on the Rondout Creek, we give the following description of her: Length, 97 feet; breadth of beam, 30 ft. 6 in.; depth of hold, 9 ft. 2 in.; tonnage, 400 tons. The frame is of extra strong construction, being built of 6-inch oak and locust timber and bolted as strong as can be done with iron. The clamps are 5½x36 inches and edge bolted throughout. The deck beams are all of oak, 12x12 and every one a natural crook. The planking is all of white oak fastened with galvanized spikes and 6,000 trunnels. The vessel is well salted to prevent rot, having 160 bushels of salt in her. Length of spars: foremast 78 feet; mainmast 80 feet; topmasts 50 feet each; main boom 70 feet; fore boom 38 feet; bowsprit 36 feet; flying jib boom 50 feet. The spars are not yet in the vessel, except, of course, the bowsprit, they not having been sent from New York, where they were gotten out, but she will be rigged in a first-class manner and have all the modern improvements. The schooner has two timber ports, one on each side the cut water. The vessel was constructed under the inspection of the American Shipmasters' Association, of which Captains Darling of the Atlantic Insurance Company and Wilson of the Commercial Insurance Company are the inspectors. Every futtock in the frame is a natural crook of white oak, and they were all selected while growing in the forest by her owner and the builder more than a year since, and are consequently now well seasoned. She has patent trunk and stop-waters. There were seven tons of iron used in bolting; four in the keelson alone. The inspectors said when they inspected her she had the heaviest deck frame and keelsons of any vessel of her size they ever saw. She is intended for the general freighting and coasting trade, and her cost is about $24,000. Mr. John Kelly had the contract for fastening, trunneling and caulking the vessel, and did it in a thoroughly workmanlike manner and to the entire satisfaction of Mr. Pitts.

Mr. Pitts has had several applications from experienced coasting masters to sell a captain's interest—one quarter—of the vessel, which applications he has yet under consideration. The vessel, as a specimen of naval architecture and mechanical skill, is an honor to her builder and those employed in her construction, as well as her owner, and we hope her career will be a long, useful and remunerative one.

Mr. Pitts, the owner of the vessel, received the hearty congratulations of his friends present on the success of the launch and was presented by a number of lady acquaintances with many very handsome bouquets.

—One of a train of freight cars on the Schenectady & Athens railroad took fire from some cause Monday afternoon, near Coeymans, and before the flames were discovered they had communicated to other cars, and all were destroyed.

—An old Troy river man says he is disgusted to hear people nowadays talk of low water in the Hudson. He remarks that he can remember well, years ago, when the river was low. He asseverates that one time all the passengers on the New York boat had to close their windows during the entire trip down because the steamer's wheels raised such a dust!

County Court and Court of Sessions.

On Saturday morning the Court decided the motion of non-suit in the case of Hadden vs. James Anderson, trustee, etc., against the defendant and directed a verdict for plaintiff for $116.75, being fifteen dollars per week for the seven weeks, with interest on the same.

No. 27, Jonathan Embree vs. Theodore Snedeker, was then tried. The attorneys are T. R. Westbrook for plaintiff, M. Schoonmaker and Howard Chipp, Jr., for defendant. The plaintiff claims that by an order of the Surrogate of Ulster county a claim defendant had against the estate of one Anthony Clawson, deceased, was referred to Burnett McClelland, William Merrihew and Benjamin B. Shute, to hear and determine. The referees tried the case and November 27th, 1856, decided that Jane W. Cutler, administratrix of Anthony Clawson, deceased, should pay Embree, plaintiff, the sum of $100, and that such administratrix should pay all the expenses and costs of the reference, such costs amounting to $115.92. That the property of Clawson, deceased, was purchased by one Sands Beach, and in the spring of 1871 said Beach sold the same to Theodore Snedeker, the defendant, the condition of the sale being that Snedeker should pay the claim of the above named plaintiff and the costs of the said reference. The plaintiff therefore brings his action to recover the said $217.75. The chief point and fight in the case is upon the question whether there was an agreement between Beach and Snedeker that Snedeker should pay the amount awarded by the referees and costs. The plaintiff claimed the agreement of sale had been destroyed and Mr. Embree testified the agreement of sale contained the clause that Snedeker would pay $2,600 for the property and satisfy Embree's claim, while Justice Montanye testified that he drew the agreement and that afterwards Snedeker came in his store and wanted to look at it. He then refused to give it up. The defendant's counsel made a motion to non-suit the plaintiff on the ground no title to property had been shown by Beach; that no sufficient consideration had been shown. The Court overruled the motion.

Justice F. D. L. Montanye was then put on the stand as the witness for defendant; (a paper was handed witness and he was asked if that was not a copy of the agreement made by witness of the agreement between Beach and Snedeker.) Witness—I cannot swear that is the copy of whole contract; it seems to be a copy of the paper; I generally copy all the contract; it is possible, in the haste of copying, I might have left out a part of the agreement in the copy; don't know whether Snedeker read while I copied or not. I did not put anything in that was not in the contract with my knowledge. (This copy does not contain the clause agreeing to pay the claim of Embree.)

Theodore Snedeker—I remember agreement; the paper is a copy of original; after I had title to the property, Mr. Montanye gave me the original; the original is destroyed; I destroyed it, because it was of no further use.

Cross-examined—I have a deed of the property; I paid the money to the heirs of the property; gave mortgage to the wife of Beach of $1,200. Before deeds were made I took possession of property; I occupied the property under the agreement of Beach; Joseph Beach and Stephen Shultis occupied the property before I did; Joseph is a son of Sands Beach; I asked Montanye for the agreement; he gave it to me; Montanye asked me for it; I did not give it to him but burned it up; put it in the stove; did not tell him I had burned it; I had no motive for burning up the copy; when Montanye wrote the copy of the agreement I took the copy and he took the original; we then compared it.

The case was then closed.

Dot's Nice.

Henry Weiner is an enthusiast on many points and on none more so than on trying—and succeeding pretty well—in keeping the finest and largest stock of imported cigars in the place. Then Henry has such an inviting air! He just winks at a man passing by and the man pops in and Henry gives him a nice Henry Clay, or Opera, or Rosa Concha, and the man sits down and puffs away in ecstacy, while Henry looks on and enjoys it. Then the man begins to talk about what a bully cigar that is, and Henry gets up, kinder careless like, and opens the case and shows his stock, and a new kink he has in the shape of a patent paper cigar case. Then the man says "Fill 'er up," and Henry does so and takes his money for the five he has sold, but not for the one and the case he has given away. Then the man goes out and both are happy. Henry is a nice young man and he knows how to sell nice cigars.

A Marriage Ring.

Rings have been quite a favorite institution of late in the country, but we never, until now, have heard of a ring to control the affections and natural proclivities of the fair sex. There is such a ring up town, composed of several handsome young men, who have pledged themselves to govern the affections of the eligible young ladies in that part of the city, that is those who shine in aristocratic circles, and shine in regard to their parents' income as well. This organization, which is secret, and has only been discovered by a mere accident, has already succeeded in making its powerful influence felt in the society of upper Kingston. No aristocratic wedding can be well conducted unless one or two of the members of this organization are the main movers, and we have known one wedding where this band even governed the issuing of invitations. We believe it has not yet come to pass that ladies must submit propositions of marriage to this ring, but there's no knowing what power they may exert in time, for this secret council of three already have the full power to lop off the society trunk of any one against whom an accusation may be made, and like the once famed Venetian Council of Three, there is no appeal from their decrees.

Rapid Hose Carriage.

The carriage of Rapid Hose Company, which has been rebuilt at the works of Edward B. Leverich, at 21 Hicks street, Brooklyn, under the superintendence of Joseph Pine, and which returned to this city on Thursday night last, is painted a delicate pearl color, with a gold stripe bordered with blue, and picked out with vermillion. The lamps are silver, one on each side of the reel, with yellow glass, on which is Rapid 1, and the signal light is of silver with red glass, on which is the name and number of the company. On the forward box is a portrait of Mr. Donald McMillan, the first chief engineer of the Rondout Fire Department.—On the box are also the words "Organized June 24th, 1860" in gilt letters on a blue scroll. Above the portrait just mentioned is a silver plate on which is engraved "Rebuilt by Edward B. Leverich, 21 Hicks street, Brooklyn, N. Y., Joseph Pine, Superindent." The panels of the reel are handsomely painted with fancy designs in bright colors and gilt, and on the side of the reel is a silver plate with "Joseph Pine, Builder, N.Y.," engraved upon it. All the iron work is polished, the hubs of the wheels are silver, and the paint work being highly varnished the carriage shines like an icicle in the sun. The old hose jacket with a fire scene and a demented looking fireman on the front, and an insane looking Indian clasping a lackadaisical, knock-kneed squaw to his mahogany bosom while he points to some queer looking specimens of naval architecture in the very dim distance, is still a conspicuous object on the carriage and should be repainted in, at least, a less pretentious manner.

The carriage is now a very handsome one and reflects credit on Mr. Leverich for the taste displayed in its redecoration. The Rapid boys may well feel a little vain, for there is no company along the river that can drag a handsomer carriage than they turn out.

Business.

Messrs. J. & J. McCausland on Saturday launched from their yard at Burgess Hook the barge New Jersey, belonging to the Newark Ice Company, after having given her a thorough overhauling in the style which has made them well known as competent and reliable workmen. The barge is a very large and heavy one and the repairs were extensive.

The firm has received a fine lot of ship plank from Lewisburg, Pa., which had to go so far around to get here that the man who accompanied it says he's nearer home now than when he started. If a fellow can't understand this that sanctimonious joker, James, will take out his pencil and figure it out as plain as the button on the back of your collar-band.

OUR MOTHERS, who were the best and tidiest housewives in the world—excepting our grandmothers!—took especial pride in the possession of rows of tinware that glistened like a polished mirror. Every article about their houses susceptible of polish, including the brass knocker, was regularly brightened up until it fairly glistened. With their primitive materials, such as Bath brick, emery, rotten stone, etc., it was a serious labor, albeit one of love. Now-a-days, however, their daughters use Sapolio, and in one hour can polish more articles and do it better than they could in a whole day. If you wish to excel your mothers in the brightness of your kitchen ware, use Sapolio.

AUTUMN IS AT THE DOOR!

THE FALL SEWING MUST BE COMMENCED?

Are You Properly Prepared?

We cannot offer you much in way of STITCHES, but are on hand to help you efficiently as possible by furnishing the

for outfits for your girls, clothing for your boys and all the various articles demanded for family comfort, housekeeping conveniences and the pleasant equipment of home. Our plans for the fall are:

To Keep a Better Stock

Than usual, to push our trade in handsome and substantial goods as rapidly as demand will justify, and to stand fast by the honored principle that has made our store popular and our business successful, viz.:

ONE PRICE TO ALL

And the fair truth as to quality of what we sell.

At the opening of the fall season we take occasion to correct some evident misapprehension as to our style of TRUSTING. We are not disposed to make

"CAST IRON RULES"

as to trade made by any of our well-known customers, and it is our wish and our interest to be obliging to all, but we MUST be understood as positively determined

NOT TO DO A CREDIT BUSINESS!

Such of our reliable customers as find the usual Thirty days a convenience, are entirely welcome to the time, if payment is promptly made, but we make no offer of running accounts and cannot consent to do anything but a strictly

CASH BUSINESS.

This is simply just to our trade and aside from convenience to ourselves, the maintenance of the principle is of real importance to our customers, for we cannot sell goods at the very close margins we now make if our profits are to be cut down by losses sure to come with any general credit trade.

K  S KATHAIRON

Only 50 Cents per Bottle.

It promotes the GROWTH, PRESERVES the COLOR, and increases the Vigor and BEAUTY of the HAIR.

OVER THIRTY YEARS AGO LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR was first placed in the market by Professor E. Thomas Lyon, a graduate of Princeton College. The name is derived from the Greek, "KATHRO," signifying to cleanse, purify, rejuvenate, or restore. The favor it has received, and the popularity it has obtained, is unprecedented and incredible. It increases the GROWTH and BEAUTY of the HAIR. It is a delightful dressing. It eradicates Dandruff. It prevents the Hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy appearance. It is the SAME in QUANTITY and QUALITY as it was over a QUARTER of a CENTURY AGO, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only Fifty Cents per Bottle.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN

BLOOD PURIFIER

JURUBEBA

Is the most powerful cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Materia Medica.

It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, &c., &c.

When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowsiness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.

In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangement.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

Is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties; it will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED Organs.

It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

This section shall not affect the validity of any existing statutes in relation to the offence of bribery.

§ 2. Any person who shall offer or promise a bribe to an officer, if it shall be received, shall be deemed guilty of a felony and be liable to a punishment, except as herein provided. Resolved (if the assembly concur), That sections three and six of article seven be amended as follows:

Section three to be amended by adding at the end of the section the following:

No extra compensation shall be made to any contractor; but if from any unforeseen cause, the terms of any contract shall prove to be unjust and oppressive, the canal board may, upon the application of the contractor, cancel such contract.

§ 6. The legislature shall not sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal, the Champlain canal, the Black River canal, or the Cayuga and Seneca canal; but they shall remain the property of the state and under its management forever. Hereafter the expenditure for collections, superintendence, ordinary and extraordinary repairs on the canals named in this section shall not exceed, in any year, their gross receipts for the previous year. All funds that may be derived from any lease, sale or other disposition of any canal shall be applied in payment of the debt for which the canal revenues are pledged.

That the following be added as sections thirteen and fourteen, in place of sections thirteen and fourteen of this article, which have been transferred and inserted as sections twenty-one and twenty-two of article three.

§ 13. The sinking funds provided for the payment of interest and the extinguishment of the principal of the debts of the state, shall be separately kept and safely invested, and neither of them shall be appropriated or used in any manner other than for the specific purpose for which it shall have been provided.

§ 14. Neither the legislature, canal board, canal appraisers, nor any person or persons acting in behalf of the state, shall audit, allow or pay any claim which, as between citizens of the state, would be barred by lapse of time. The limitation of existing claims shall begin to run from the adoption of this section; but this provision shall not be construed to revive claims already barred by existing statutes, nor to repeal any statute fixing the time within which claims shall be presented or allowed, nor shall it extend to any claims duly presented within the time allowed by law, and prosecuted with due diligence from the time of such presentment. But if the claimant shall be under legal disability, the claim may be presented within two years after such disability is removed.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article three of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That sections one, four, five, six, seven and eight of article three of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. The legislative power of the state shall be vested in a senate and assembly.

§ 4. An enumeration of the inhabitants of the state shall be made under the direction of the legislature, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, and in every tenth year thereafter.

§ 5. The assembly shall consist of one hundred and twenty-eight members elected for one year. The members of assembly shall be apportioned among the several counties of the state, by the legislature, as nearly as may be, according to the number of their respective inhabitants, excluding aliens, and shall be chosen by single districts. The assembly districts shall remain as at present organized until after the enumeration of the inhabitants of the state in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-five. The legislature, at its first session after the return of every enumeration, shall apportion the members of assembly among the several counties of the state, in manner aforesaid, and the board of supervisors in such counties as may be entitled under such apportionment to more than one member, except the city and county of New York, and in said city and county the board of aldermen of said city shall assemble at such times as the legislature making such apportionment shall prescribe and divide their respective counties into assembly districts, each of which districts shall consist of convenient and contiguous territory equal to the number of members of assembly to which such counties shall be entitled, and shall cause to be filed in the offices of the secretary of state and the clerks of their respective counties a description of such districts, specifying the number of each district, and the population thereof, according to the last preceding enumeration, as near as can be ascertained, and the apportionment and districts shall remain unaltered until another enumeration shall be made as herein provided. No town shall be divided in the formation of assembly districts. Every county heretofore established and separately organized, except the county of Hamilton, shall always be entitled to one member of the assembly, and no new county shall be hereafter erected unless its population shall entitle it to a member. The county of Hamilton shall elect with the county of Fulton until the population of the county of Hamilton shall, according to the ratio, be entitled to a member. But the legislature may abolish the said county of Hamilton and annex the territory thereof to some other county or counties. Nothing in this section shall prevent division at any time of counties and towns, and the erection of new towns and counties by the legislature.

§ 6. Each member of the legislature shall receive for his service an annual salary of one thousand five hundred dollars. The members of either house shall also receive the sum of one dollar for every ten miles they shall travel in going to and returning from their place of meeting, once in each session, on the most usual route. Senators, when the senate alone is convened in extraordinary session, or when serving as members of the court for the trial of impeachments, and such members of the assembly, not exceeding nine in number, as shall be appointed managers of an impeachment, shall receive an additional allowance of ten dollars a day.

§ 7. No member of the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state, or the senate of the United States, from the governor, the governor and senate, or from the legislature, or from any city government, during the time for which he shall have been elected; and all such appointments, and all votes given for any such member for any such office or appointment, shall be void.

§ 8. No person shall be eligible to the legislature who at the time of his election is, or within one hundred days previous thereto has been, a member of congress, a civil or military officer under the United States, or an officer under any city government. And if any person shall, after his election as a member of the legislature, be elected to congress or appointed to any office, civil or military under the government of the United States, or under any city government, his acceptance thereof shall vacate his seat.

And that the following additional sections be added to said article three of the constitution:

§ 17. No act shall be passed which shall provide that any existing law, or any part thereof, shall be made or deemed a part of said act, or which shall enact that any existing law, or any part thereof, shall be applicable, except by inserting it in such act.

§ 18. The legislature shall not pass a private or local bill in any of the following cases:

Changing the names of persons.

Laying out, opening, altering, working or discontinuing roads, highways or alleys, or for draining swamps or other low lands.

Locating or changing county seats.

Providing for changing of venue in civil or criminal cases.

Incorporating villages.

Providing for election of members of boards of supervisors.

Selecting, drawing, summoning or impanneling grand or petit jurors.

Regulating the interest on money.

The opening and conducting of elections or designating places of voting.

Creating, increasing or decreasing fees, percentage or allowance of public officers during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed.

Granting to any corporation, association or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.

Granting to any private corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.

Providing for building bridges, and chartering companies for such purposes, except on the Hudson river below Waterford, and on the East river, or over the waters forming a part of the boundaries of the state.

The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this section, and for all other cases which in its judgment may be provided for by general laws. But no law shall authorize the construction or operation of a street railroad except upon the condition that the consent of the owners of one-half in value of the property bounded on, and the consent also of the local authorities having the control of that portion of a street or highway upon which it is proposed to construct or operate such railroad be first obtained, or, in case the consent of such property-owners cannot be obtained, the general term of the supreme court in the district in which it is proposed to be constructed may, upon application, appoint three commissioners, who shall determine, after a hearing of all parties interested, whether such railroad ought to be constructed or operated, and their determination, confirmed by the court, may be taken in lieu of the consent of the property owners.

§ 19. The legislature shall neither audit nor allow any private claim or account against the state, but may appropriate money to pay such claims as shall have been audited and allowed according to law.

§ 20. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax and the object to which it is to be applied, and it shall not be sufficient to refer to any other law to fix such tax or object.

§ 21. On the final passage, in either house of the legislature, of any act which imposes, continues or revives a tax, or creates a debt or charge, or makes, continues or revives any appropriation of public or trust money or property, or releases, discharges or commutes any claim or demand of the state, the question shall be taken for yeas and nays, which shall be duly entered upon the journals, and three-fifths of all the members elected to either house shall in all such cases be necessary to constitute a quorum therein.

§ 22. There shall be in the several counties, except in cities whose boundaries are the same as those of the county, a board of supervisors, to be composed of such members and elected in such a manner, and for such period, as is or may be provided by law. In any such cities the duties and powers of a board of supervisors may be devolved upon the common council or board of aldermen thereof.

Section seventeen of said article is hereby made section twenty-three of the proposed amendment, and is amended so as to read as follows:

§ 23. The legislature shall, by general laws, confer upon the boards of supervisors of the several counties of the state such further powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may from time to time deem expedient.

§ 24. The legislature shall not, nor shall the common council of any city, nor any board of supervisors, grant any extra compensation to any public officer, servant, agent or contractor.

§ 25. Sections seventeen and eighteen of this article shall not apply to any bill or the amendments to any bill which shall be reported to the legislature by commissioners who have been appointed pursuant to law to revise the statutes.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

The persons holding the offices at the time when this section shall take effect shall continue to hold the same until the first day of January next succeeding the first election of comptroller and secretary of state, pursuant to the provisions hereof, and shall each receive a salary to be fixed by law for such time as they may hold such offices beyond the term for which they shall have been elected

§ 2. The attorney-general and state engineer and surveyor shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and hold their offices until the end of the term of the governor by whom they shall be nominated, and until their successors are appointed. No person shall be appointed state engineer and surveyor who is not a practical engineer.

§ 3. A superintendent of state prisons shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and hold his office for five years, unless sooner removed; he shall give security in such amount, and with such sureties, as shall be required by law for the faithful discharge of his duties; he shall have the superintendence, management and control of the state prisons, subject to such laws as now exist or may hereafter be enacted; he shall appoint the agents, wardens, physicians and chaplains of the prisons. The agent and warden of each prison shall appoint all other officers of such prison, except the clerk, subject to the approval of the same by the superintendent. The superintendent shall have all the powers and perform all the duties not inconsistent herewith, which have heretofore been had and performed by the inspectors of state prisons; and from and after the time when such superintendent of state prisons shall have been appointed and qualified, the office of inspector of state prisons shall be and is hereby abolished. The governor may remove the superintendent for cause at any time, giving to him a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity to be heard in his defense

§ 4. The treasurer shall be chosen by the senate and assembly in joint ballot, and hold his office for three years, and until his successor shall be chosen and qualified. He shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, give such security as may be required by law. He may be suspended from office by the governor during the recess of the legislature, and until thirty days after the commencement of the next session of the legislature, whenever it shall appear to him that such treasurer, has, in any particular, violated his duty. The governor shall appoint a competent person to discharge the duties of the office during such suspension of the treasurer.

§ 5. The lieutenant governor, comptroller, secretary of state, attorney-general, treasurer and state engineer and surveyor shall be the commissioners of the land office. The office of the commissioner of the canal fund is abolished, and all the powers and duties heretofore had and performed by the commissioners of the canal fund shall hereafter be had or performed by the comptroller. The canal board shall consist of the lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, attorney-general, state engineer and surveyor, and superintendent of public works.

§ 6. A superintendent of public works shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and to hold his office until the end of the term of the governor by whom he was nominated and until his successor is appointed. He shall receive for his services a compensation to be fixed by law. He shall be required by law to give security for the faithful execution of his office, before entering upon the duties thereof. He shall be charged with the execution of all laws relating to the repair and navigation of the canals; and also of those relating to the construction and improvement of the canals, except so far as the execution of the laws relating to such construction or improvement shall be confided to the state engineer and surveyor. Subject to the control of the legislature, he shall make the rules and regulations for the navigation or use of the canals. He may be suspended or removed from office by the governor, whenever in his judgment the public interest shall so require; but in case of removal of such superintendent of public works from office, the governor shall file with the secretary of state a statement of the cause of such removal, and shall report such removal and the cause thereof, to the legislature at its next session.

§ 7. The superintendent of public works shall appoint not more than three assistant superintendents, whose duties shall be prescribed by him, subject to modification by the legislature, and who shall receive for their services a compensation to be fixed by law. They shall hold their office for three years, subject to suspension or removal by the superintendent of public works, whenever in his judgment the public interest shall so require. Any vacancy in the office of any such assistant superintendent shall be filled, for the remainder of the term for which he was appointed, by the superintendent of public works; but in case of the suspension or removal of any such assistant superintendent by him he shall at once report to the governor, in writing, the cause of such removal. All other persons employed in the care and management of the canals, except collectors of tolls, and those in the department of the state engineer and surveyor, shall be appointed by the superintendent of public works, and be subject to suspension or removal by him.

§ 8. The office of canal commissioner is abolished from and after the appointment and qualification of the superintendent of public works, until which time the canal commissioners shall continue to discharge their duties as now provided by law. The superintendent of public works shall perform all the duties of the canal commissioners, and board of canal commissioners, as now declared by law, until otherwise provided by the legislature.

§ 9. The governor, by and with the consent of the senate, shall have power to fill vacancies, in the offices in this article named except as herein otherwise provided; or, if the senate be not in session, he may grant commissions, which shall expire at the end of the next succeeding session of the senate.

§ 10. The attorney-general, state engineer and surveyor and treasurer, in office at the time this article shall take effect, shall hold their offices until their successors are appointed.

§ 11. The powers and duties of the respective boards, and of the several officers in this article named, shall, except as herein otherwise provided, be such as now are or hereafter may be prescribed by law.

§ 12. All offices for the weighing, gauging, measuring, culling or inspecting any merchandise, produce, manufacture or commodity whatever, are hereby abolished, and no such office shall hereafter be created by law; but nothing in this section contained shall abrogate any office created for the purpose of protecting the public health or the interest of the state in its property, revenue, tolls or purchases, or of supplying the people with correct standards of weights and measures, or shall prevent the creation of any office for such purposes hereafter.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article four of the constitution.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That sections one, two, four, eight and nine of article four of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

SECTION 1. The executive power shall be vested in a governor who shall hold his office for three years; a lieutenant-governor shall be chosen at the same time, and for the same term. The governor and lieutenant-governor elected next preceding the time when this section shall take effect, shall hold office during the term for which they were elected.

§ 2. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor or lieutenant-governor, except a citizen of the United States, of the age not less than thirty years, and who shall have been five years, next preceding his election, a resident of this state.

§ 4. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state. He shall have power to convene the legislature (or the senate only) on extraordinary occasions. At extraordinary sessions no subject shall be acted upon, except such as the governor may recommend for consideration. He shall communicate by message to the legislature at every session the condition of the state, and recommend such matters to them as he shall judge expedient. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government, civil and military. He shall expedite all such measures as may be resolved upon by the legislature, and shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed. He shall receive for his services an annual salary of ten thousand dollars, and there shall be provided for his use a suitable and furnished executive residence.

§ 8. The lieutenant-governor shall receive for his services an annual salary of five thousand dollars, and shall not receive or be entitled to any other compensation, fee or perquisite, for any duty and service he may be required to perform by the constitution or by law.

§ 9. Every bill which shall have passed the senate and assembly, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it with his objections to the house in which it shall have originated, which shall enter the objections at large on the journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members elected to that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent together with the objections to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of the members elected to that house, it shall become a law notwithstanding the objections of the governor. In all such cases, the votes in both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return; in which case it shall not become a law without the approval of the governor. No bill shall become a law after the final adjournment of the legislature unless approved by the governor within thirty days after such adjournment. If any bill presented to the governor contain several items of appropriations of money, he may object to one or more of such items, while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case, he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects; and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the legislature be in session, he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered. If, on reconsideration, one or more of such items be approved by two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the same shall be part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. All the provisions of this section, in relation to bills not approved by the governor, shall apply in cases in which he shall withhold his approval from any item or items contained in a bill appropriating money.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur). That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

To its Natural Vitality and Color.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty.—Thus brashy weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stablished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

It promotes the GROWTH, PRESERVES the COLOR, and increases the Vigor and BEAUTY of the HAIR.

OVER THIRTY YEARS AGO LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR was first placed in the market by Professor E. Thomas Lyon, a graduate of Princeton College. It increases the GROWTH and BEAUTY of the HAIR. It is a delightful dressing. It eradicates Dandruff. It prevents the Hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy appearance. It is the SAME in QUANTITY and QUALITY as it was over a QUARTER of a CENTURY AGO, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only Fifty Cents per Bottle.

It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, &c., &c.

When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowsiness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.

In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangement.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

Is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties; it will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED Organs.

It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That sections three and six of article seven be amended as follows:

Section three to be amended by adding at the end of the section the following:

No extra compensation shall be made to any contractor; but if from any unforeseen cause, the terms of any contract shall prove to be unjust and oppressive, the canal board may, upon the application of the contractor, cancel such contract.

§ 6. The legislature shall not sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal, the Champlain canal, the Black River canal, or the Cayuga and Seneca canal; but they shall remain the property of the state and under its management forever. Hereafter the expenditure for collections, superintendence, ordinary and extraordinary repairs on the canals named in this section shall not exceed, in any year, their gross receipts for the previous year. All funds that may be derived from any lease, sale or other disposition of any canal shall be applied in payment of the debt for which the canal revenues are pledged.

That the following be added as sections thirteen and fourteen, in place of sections thirteen and fourteen of this article, which have been transferred and inserted as sections twenty-one and twenty-two of article three.

§ 14. Neither the legislature, canal board, canal appraisers, nor any person or persons acting in behalf of the state, shall audit, allow or pay any claim which, as between citizens of the state, would be barred by lapse of time. The limitation of existing claims shall begin to run from the adoption of this section; but this provision shall not be construed to revive claims already barred by existing statutes, nor to repeal any statute fixing the time within which claims shall be presented or allowed, nor shall it extend to any claims duly presented within the time allowed by law, and prosecuted with due diligence from the time of such presentment. CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article three of the constitution.

Resolved (if the assembly concur), That sections one, four, five, six, seven and eight of article three of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. The legislative power of the state shall be vested in a senate and assembly.

§ 4. An enumeration of the inhabitants of the state shall be made under the direction of the legislature, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, and in every tenth year thereafter.

§ 5. The assembly shall consist of one hundred and twenty-eight members elected for one year. The members of assembly shall be apportioned among the several counties of the state, by the legislature, as nearly as may be, according to the number of their respective inhabitants, excluding aliens, and shall be chosen by single districts. The assembly districts shall remain as at present organized until after the enumeration of the inhabitants of the state in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-five. The legislature, at its first session after the return of every enumeration, shall apportion the members of assembly among the several counties of the state, in manner aforesaid, and the board of supervisors in such counties as may be entitled under such apportionment to more than one member, except the city and county of New York, and in said city and county the board of aldermen of said city shall assemble at such times as the legislature making such apportionment shall prescribe and divide their respective counties into assembly districts, each of which districts shall consist of convenient and contiguous territory equal to the number of members of assembly to which such counties shall be entitled, and shall cause to be filed in the offices of the secretary of state and the clerks of their respective counties a description of such districts, specifying the number of each district, and the population thereof, according to the last preceding enumeration, as near as can be ascertained, and the apportionment and districts shall remain unaltered until another enumeration shall be made as herein provided. No town shall be divided in the formation of assembly districts. Every county heretofore established and separately organized, except the county of Hamilton, shall always be entitled to one member of the assembly, and no new county shall be hereafter erected unless its population shall entitle it to a member. The county of Hamilton shall elect with the county of Fulton until the population of the county of Hamilton shall, according to the ratio, be entitled to a member. But the legislature may abolish the said county of Hamilton and annex the territory thereof to some other county or counties. Nothing in this section shall prevent division at any time of counties and towns, and the erection of new towns and counties by the legislature.

§ 6. Each member of the legislature shall receive for his service an annual salary of one thousand five hundred dollars. The members of either house shall also receive the sum of one dollar for every ten miles they shall travel in going to and returning from their place of meeting, once in each session, on the most usual route. Senators, when the senate alone is convened in extraordinary session, or when serving as members of the court for the trial of impeachments, and such members of the assembly, not exceeding nine in number, as shall be appointed managers of an impeachment, shall receive an additional allowance of ten dollars a day.

§ 7. No member of the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state, or the senate of the United States, from the governor, the governor and senate, or from the legislature, or from any city government, during the time for which he shall have been elected; and all such appointments, and all votes given for any such member for any such office or appointment, shall be void.

§ 8. No person shall be eligible to the legislature who at the time of his election is, or within one hundred days previous thereto has been, a member of congress, a civil or military officer under the United States, or an officer under any city government. And if any person shall, after his election as a member of the legislature, be elected to congress or appointed to any office, civil or military under the government of the United States, or under any city government, his acceptance thereof shall vacate his seat.

And that the following additional sections be added to said article three of the constitution:

§ 17. No act shall be passed which shall provide that any existing law, or any part thereof, shall be made or deemed a part of said act, or which shall enact that any existing law, or any part thereof, shall be applicable, except by inserting it in such act.

§ 18. The legislature shall not pass a private or local bill in any of the following cases:

Changing the names of persons.

Laying out, opening, altering, working or discontinuing roads, highways or alleys, or for draining swamps or other low lands.

Locating or changing county seats.

Providing for changing of venue in civil or criminal cases.

Incorporating villages.

Providing for election of members of boards of supervisors.

Selecting, drawing, summoning or impanneling grand or petit jurors.

Regulating the interest on money.

The opening and conducting of elections or designating places of voting.

Creating, increasing or decreasing fees, percentage or allowance of public officers during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed.

Granting to any corporation, association or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.

Granting to any private corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.

Providing for building bridges, and chartering companies for such purposes, except on the Hudson river below Waterford, and on the East river, or over the waters forming a part of the boundaries of the state.

The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this section, and for all other cases which in its judgment may be provided for by general laws. But no law shall authorize the construction or operation of a street railroad except upon the condition that the consent of the owners of one-half in value of the property bounded on, and the consent also of the local authorities having the control of that portion of a street or highway upon which it is proposed to construct or operate such railroad be first obtained, or, in case the consent of such property-owners cannot be obtained, the general term of the supreme court in the district in which it is proposed to be constructed may, upon application, appoint three commissioners, who shall determine, after a hearing of all parties interested, whether such railroad ought to be constructed or operated, and their determination, confirmed by the court, may be taken in lieu of the consent of the property owners.

§ 19. The legislature shall neither audit nor allow any private claim or account against the state, but may appropriate money to pay such claims as shall have been audited and allowed according to law.

§ 20. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax and the object to which it is to be applied, and it shall not be sufficient to refer to any other law to fix such tax or object.

§ 21. On the final passage, in either house of the legislature, of any act which imposes, continues or revives a tax, or creates a debt or charge, or makes, continues or revives any appropriation of public or trust money or property, or releases, discharges or commutes any claim or demand of the state, the question shall be taken for yeas and nays, which shall be duly entered upon the journals, and three-fifths of all the members elected to either house shall in all such cases be necessary to constitute a quorum therein.

§ 22. There shall be in the several counties, except in cities whose boundaries are the same as those of the county, a board of supervisors, to be composed of such members and elected in such a manner, and for such period, as is or may be provided by law. In any such cities the duties and powers of a board of supervisors may be devolved upon the common council or board of aldermen thereof.

Section seventeen of said article is hereby made section twenty-three of the proposed amendment, and is amended so as to read as follows:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article five of the constitution.

Resolved, (If the assembly concur.) That article five of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

§1. The comptroller and secretary of state shall be chosen at the same general election, and for the same term as the governor. The persons holding the offices at the time when this section shall take effect shall continue to hold the same until the first day of January next succeeding the first election of comptroller and secretary of state, pursuant to the provisions hereof, and shall each receive a salary to be fixed by law for such time as they may hold such offices beyond the term for which they shall have been elected

§ 2. The attorney-general and state engineer and surveyor shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and hold their offices until the end of the term of the governor by whom they shall be nominated, and until their successors are appointed. No person shall be appointed state engineer and surveyor who is not a practical engineer.

§ 3. A superintendent of state prisons shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and hold his office for five years, unless sooner removed; he shall give security in such amount, and with such sureties, as shall be required by law for the faithful discharge of his duties; he shall have the superintendence, management and control of the state prisons, subject to such laws as now exist or may hereafter be enacted; he shall appoint the agents, wardens, physicians and chaplains of the prisons. The agent and warden of each prison shall appoint all other officers of such prison, except the clerk, subject to the approval of the same by the superintendent. The comptroller shall appoint the clerks of the prisons. The superintendent shall have all the powers and perform all the duties not inconsistent herewith, which have heretofore been had and performed by the inspectors of state prisons; and from and after the time when such superintendent of state prisons shall have been appointed and qualified, the office of inspector of state prisons shall be and is hereby abolished. The governor may remove the superintendent for cause at any time, giving to him a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity to be heard in his defense

§ 4. The treasurer shall be chosen by the senate and assembly in joint ballot, and hold his office for three years, and until his successor shall be chosen and qualified. He shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, give such security as may be required by law. He may be suspended from office by the governor during the recess of the legislature, and until thirty days after the commencement of the next session of the legislature, whenever it shall appear to him that such treasurer, has, in any particular, violated his duty The governor shall appoint a competent person to discharge the duties of the office during such suspension of the treasurer.

§ 5. The lieutenant governor, comptroller, secretary of state, attorney-general, treasurer and state engineer and surveyor shall be the commissioners of the land office. The office of the commissioner of the canal fund is abolished, and all the powers and duties heretofore had and performed by the commissioners of the canal fund shall hereafter be had or performed by the comptroller. The canal board shall consist of the lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, attorney-general, state engineer and surveyor, and superintendent of public works.

§ 6. A superintendent of public works shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and to hold his office until the end of the term of the governor by whom he was nominated and until his successor is appointed. He shall receive for his services a compensation to be fixed by law. He shall be required by law to give security for the faithful execution of his office, before entering upon the duties thereof. He shall be charged with the execution of all laws relating to the repair and navigation of the canals; and also of those relating to the construction and improvement of the canals, except so far as the execution of the laws relating to such construction or improvement shall be confided to the state engineer and surveyor. Subject to the control of the legislature, he shall make the rules and regulations for the navigation or use of the canals. He may be suspended or removed from office by the governor, whenever in his judgment the public interest shall so require; but in case of removal of such superintendent of public works from office, the governor shall file with the secretary of state a statement of the cause of such removal, and shall report such removal and the cause thereof, to the legislature at its next session.

§ 7. The superintendent of public works shall appoint not more than three assistant superintendents, whose duties shall be prescribed by him, subject to modification by the legislature, and who shall receive for their services a compensation to be fixed by law. They shall hold their office for three years, subject to suspension or removal by the superintendent of public works, whenever in his judgment the public interest shall so require. Any vacancy in the office of any such assistant superintendent shall be filled, for the remainder of the term for which he was appointed, by the superintendent of public works; but in case of the suspension or removal of any such assistant superintendent by him he shall at once report to the governor, in writing, the cause of such removal. All other persons employed in the care and management of the canals, except collectors of tolls, and those in the department of the state engineer and surveyor, shall be appointed by the superintendent of public works, and be subject to suspension or removal by him.

§ 8. The office of canal commissioner is abolished from and after the appointment and qualification of the superintendent of public works, until which time the canal commissioners shall continue to discharge their duties as now provided by law. The superintendent of public works shall perform all the duties of the canal commissioners, and board of canal commissioners, as now declared by law, until otherwise provided by the legislature.

§ 9. The governor, by and with the consent of the senate, shall have power to fill vacancies, in the offices in this article named except as herein otherwise provided; or, if the senate be not in session, he may grant commissions, which shall expire at the end of the next succeeding session of the senate.

§ 10. The attorney-general, state engineer and surveyor and treasurer, in office at the time this article shall take effect, shall hold their offices until their successors are appointed.

§ 11. The powers and duties of the respective boards, and of the several officers in this article named, shall, except as herein otherwise provided, be such as now are or hereafter may be prescribed by law.

§ 12. All offices for the weighing, gauging, measuring, culling or inspecting any merchandise, produce, manufacture or commodity whatever, are hereby abolished, and no such office shall hereafter be created by law; but nothing in this section contained shall abrogate any office created for the purpose of protecting the public health or the interest of the state in its property, revenue, tolls or purchases, or of supplying the people with correct standards of weights and measures, or shall prevent the creation of any office for such purposes hereafter.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS proposing amendments to article four of the constitution.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur), That sections one, two, four, eight and nine of article four of the constitution be amended so as to read as follows:

SECTION 1. The executive power shall be vested in a governor who shall hold his office for three years; a lieutenant-governor shall be chosen at the same time, and for the same term. The governor and lieutenant-governor elected next preceding the time when this section shall take effect, shall hold office during the term for which they were elected.

§ 2. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor or lieutenant-governor, except a citizen of the United States, of the age not less than thirty years, and who shall have been five years, next preceding his election, a resident of this state.

§ 4. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state. He shall have power to convene the legislature (or the senate only) on extraordinary occasions. At extraordinary sessions no subject shall be acted upon, except such as the governor may recommend for consideration. He shall communicate by message to the legislature at every session the condition of the state, and recommend such matters to them as he shall judge expedient. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government, civil and military. He shall expedite all such measures as may be resolved upon by the legislature, and shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed. He shall receive for his services an annual salary of ten thousand dollars, and there shall be provided for his use a suitable and furnished executive residence.

§ 8. The lieutenant-governor shall receive for his services an annual salary of five thousand dollars, and shall not receive or be entitled to any other compensation, fee or perquisite, for any duty and service he may be required to perform by the constitution or by law.

§ 9. Every bill which shall have passed the senate and assembly, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it with his objections to the house in which it shall have originated, which shall enter the objections at large on the journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members elected to that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent together with the objections to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of the members elected to that house, it shall become a law notwithstanding the objections of the governor. In all such cases, the votes in both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return; in which case it shall not become a law without the approval of the governor. No bill shall become a law after the final adjournment of the legislature unless approved by the governor within thirty days after such adjournment. If any bill presented to the governor contain several items of appropriations of money, he may object to one or more of such items, while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case, he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects; and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the legislature be in session, he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered. If, on reconsideration, one or more of such items be approved by two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the same shall be part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. All the provisions of this section, in relation to bills not approved by the governor, shall apply in cases in which he shall withhold his approval from any item or items contained in a bill appropriating money.

Resolved, (if the assembly concur). That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and that, in conformity to section one of article thirteen of the constitution, it be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

To its Natural Vitality and Color.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty.—Thus brashy weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stablished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.
